SENATE BEGINS DEBATE ON TAX BILL NEXT WEEK

Democrats Outline Amendments.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., April 10.—[Special.]—The tax bill reached the floor of the senate today. Senator Smoot (Rep., Utah), chairman of the finance committee, reported the bill as revised by the committee and announced to the senate that he planned to call it up for consideration next Wednesday. The Democratic program was made public officially in the form of amendments introduced by Senator Simmons (Dem., N. C.), ranking minority member of the finance committee.

Three amendments were offered by Senator Simmons. One proposes a substitute schedule of surtax rates with a maximum of 40 per cent on the amount of income in excess of $500,000. $2,500 exemption provided.

Another proposes normal tax rates of 1, 4, and 6 per cent, the same as under the Garner tax plan of the house Democrats. The third amendment gives all heads of families an exemption of $2,500, which only those with incomes of $5,000 or less receive under the present law. No change is proposed in the exemption for single persons.

The Democrats joined with the Republicans in indicating a desire to start debate on the tax bill in the senate next Wednesday. Leaders of both parties seemed to think that, inasmuch as the majority will settle on relatively definite points, the debate may not run on for two or three weeks.

It is considered that the rate provisions are the only ones on which there will be decided differences of opinion, said Senator Smoot. "This was indicated in the committee, where the bill was considered throughout by the entire committee, with no separate meeting of Republicans."

Wants Action Next Week.
Senator Robinson (Ark.), Democrat, leader, approved the suggestion of Senator Smoot that the bill be taken up on Wednesday.

Actual debate on the tax bill may not start until a later date, in view of the possibility that the soldiers' bonus bill will be given precedence. The bonus bill probably will reach the floor of the senate by Monday and a motion to take it up ahead of the tax bill may be offered. The Republicans seem to favor passing the bonus bill first, while the Democrats prefer to go ahead with the tax bill.

The Democratic tax program, as disclosed by Senator Simmons, is much less radical than the Garner plan, which cut normal taxes and increased exemptions to such an extent as to lessen a large deficit and also failed to reduce surtaxes enough to increase revenues by a stimulation of business.

Senator Simmons said his plan is designed to raise within $3,000,000 of as much revenue as the Mellon plan.

Small Loss in Revenue.
The Garner plan increased exemptions for both single persons and heads of families but the increase from $2,000 to $2,500 in exemptions for heads of families with incomes in excess of $5,000 causes a comparatively small loss in revenue.

The normal tax rates of the Garner plan as approved by the Democratic members of the finance committee are 1 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income, 4 per cent on income between $4,000 and $8,000, and 6 per cent on that portion of income above $8,000. The rates of the present law are 4 per cent on the first $4,000 and 5 per cent above $4,000.

Under the Mellon plan as incorporated in the bill reported from the finance committee the rates are 3 per cent on the first $4,000, and 6 per cent above that. The Longworth coprovision plan as embodied in the bill passed by the house provided normal rates of 3 per cent on the first $4,000, 5 per cent on the second $4,000, and 6 per cent above that.

Wishes Longworth Compromise.
The Simmons surtax schedule is so framed as to be but slightly higher on incomes than the Longworth compromise of the house bill in which the maximum was 37 1/2 per cent. The Garner plan surtax maximum was 44 per cent on incomes above $94,000. The 40 per cent maximum of the Simmons plan does not apply until income reaches $500,000.

The close similarity between the Longworth and Simmons plans is shown by the fact that while the percentage of income of the Longworth plan with an income of a little more than $500,000 would pay a maximum surtax of 37 1/2 per cent under the Longworth plan, his maximum rate would be only 35 per cent.

In the case of incomes between $500,000 and $500,000 the Simmons maximum would be 39 per cent, while the Longworth plan would be 37 1/2 per cent.

HUGO STINNES, RICHEST MAN IN GERMANY, DIES

Talked of Business as Life Ebbbed.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
[Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.]
BERLIN, April 10.—Hugo Stinnes, the builder of Germany's greatest fortune, is dead. He was 54 years old. Peritonitis, following a second operation within two weeks' time, snuffed out the life of this man who was at once the most feared and the most hated man in Europe.

His wife and five children were beside him as he lay fully conscious until the end.

Even with the great black angel hovering over his bed, this impersonation of international industry did not get away from the binding fetters of the machine which he created. He talked long with Otto Wolf and Otto Strauss, who visited him, regarding the details of the Dusseldorf accords reached last November between German industrialists and the French.

Reads Dawes Report Summary.
Previous to this, his nurse said, Stinnes had read with great interest a complete summary of the Dawes report, and had discussed questions raised by this document with Wolf and Strauss.

Stinnes was taken ill some weeks ago with gall stones. A little more than two weeks ago he was operated on. The wound was healing, and he made arrangements for a trip to the south. Then complications appeared.

After he had consulted Dr. Lief a second operation was performed. This was done with every appearance of success, but from some cause the wound became septic and forty-eight hours ago Stinnes took a severe turn for the worse. Early today it was discovered that peritonitis had set in, leaving practically no hope of recovery.

Approaching Death Hits Stocks.
Stinnes' physicians and nurses were offered large sums by Berlin bankers and speculators for the first news of the magnate's death.

Stinnes' death brought little grief in Germany outside his immediate circle of family and friends. To Germany Stinnes was more an impersonation of relentless power and wealth than a human being. But to business circles his death will be the most important event of the year. Even yesterday when it was learned that he was nearing the end of stocks of all German companies in which he was interested suffered great losses. Today the hours showed weakness all along the line, despite encouraging reports of a quiet night for the industrialist chief.

Bankers and speculators tonight are frantically giving orders for buying or selling at tomorrow's market, preparing the way for one of the stormiest days the Berlin stock exchange has known since the days of the heaviest inflation.

Youth of 29 Controls 300 Concerns.
The control of the 300 German industrial companies in which Stinnes was interested will go to his eldest son, Dr. Edmund Stinnes, aged 29 years, while his second son, Hugo Stinnes Jr., will keep the directorship of the Stinnes steamship lines. A third son is studying at the university and a fourth son, at a gymnasium. Besides his four sons, three daughters survive.

One of Stinnes' last wishes was that his funeral be absolutely simple.

BLOW TO GERMANY.
BERLIN, April 10.—[By the Associated Press.]—The death of Hugo Stinnes at the very moment the process of dismantling the reparations knot seems about to enter upon its final stage is felt in official quarters and industrial circles as a distinct blow to Germany. Whatever the popular or official attitude toward his political orientation or his far flung economic program may have been, there was a widespread impression that Stinnes was preeminently qualified to take an active part in the final adjustment of the problems on which the experts' committees have rendered an exhaustive verdict.

Stinnes of his own volition and partly at the urging of friends persistently refused to enter into public discussion of the reparations problems or the French occupation of the Ruhr. He preferred to hold himself in readiness.

WILL THEY ANSWER THE CALL?

Hegewisch to Have Greater Ford Plant

(BY AL CHASE.)
Henry Ford's venture into the Chicago district with a sixteen acre manufacturing and assembly plant at Hegewisch already has proven so successful that yesterday contracts were let to double the size of the huge building.

This is one of the most significant industrial announcements of the past few years, for it confirms the predictions made when Mr. Ford bought the seventy acre tract, that eventually he would have there one of the world's greatest manufacturing plants.

It is known that there are several hundred acres of industrial land available if the Ford factory expansion keeps up at the present speed. The present plant site is bounded by Torrence avenue, 128th, 130th and the Nickel Plate railroad right of way.

The present big plant was opened last January and already is running with three shifts of men and with a force of between 3,100 and 3,500. Although the output is small when compared with the main plants in Detroit, a record was established a few days ago when 200 complete cars were turned out in twenty-four hours.

Although Ford officials are always reticent about figures it is understood the Hegewisch plant cost in the neighborhood of $1,500,000. The proposed duplicate, it is said, will cost considerably more, nearer to $1,750,000.

Bomb Damages Grocery; Follows Black Hand Notes
A black powder bomb did $100 worth of damage late last night to the grocery store by Steven Mastrolomondo, at 2305 West Ohio street. Two months ago, after he had received Black Hand letters, Victor Greco and Angelo Ruzza were arrested, but later released. Police are searching for them again.

N. U. PACIFISTS STAGE BATTLE; B'GOSH, THEY WIN!

Pacifists, neglecting to turn the other cheek, put up a battle last night on the Northwestern university campus. They won, and eyewitnesses reported that it wasn't a bad fight while it lasted.

The occasion was a political meeting in preparation for the mock Republican convention which students will hold in Patten gymnasium tonight. A band of insurgents was headed for Fiske hall to hear Phil La Follette, son of the presidential aspirant from Wisconsin, whom it up for his pa. At the head of the procession, bearing a banner announcing that "A Vote for La Follette is a Vote Against Teapot Dome," marched Walter Mueller and Olin Stockwell, radical students and members of the Garrett League for Peace.

Then an automobile load of Coolidge delegates dashed up and rushed the banner. Several fists got into action and a few grunts were heard. The banner was saved, but it wasn't much to look at.

Marconis Get Divorce; Wife Reweds

LONDON, April 10.—[United News.]—Senator William Marconi, inventor of wireless, and his wife, the former Hon. Beatrice O'Brien, half sister to Lord Inchiquin and lady in waiting to Queen Mary of England, have been granted a divorce at Fiume, according to a Rome dispatch to the Daily Express.

The former Signora Marconi has since been married to the Marquis L. Borio Marignoli, the report adds.

The Express says that the new marriage has resigned her duties as lady in waiting to the queen. Queen Mary does not approve of divorces and usually finds a way to rid herself of any members of her suite who so indulge themselves.

"I don't want anything," he said when attendants asked if he desired anything special. "What's the use?" "Later he tried to kill himself by hanging with a thin wire from his cot after he had threatened to kill a priest who went to his cell.

Five Negroes Identified as Robbers of 20 Taxi Drivers
Five colored men, arrested by Lieut. Michael Grady's squad after a shotgun volley had been fired into a flat at 4107 South Dearborn street, were identified yesterday by more than twenty taxicab chauffeurs as robbers who had held them up recently. The police expect to find a score or more other victims of their activities.

Friend Finds Missing Man's Auto on Road

William Dehne, a prosperous garage owner and automobile agent of Long Grove, near Barrington, disappeared Wednesday night under circumstances which lead the police to believe he either was kidnaped or else murdered and his body carried to some hiding place.

His automobile, which he drove out of Barrington at 9:30 Wednesday night, was found abandoned yesterday morning a mile outside of that village on the Northwest highway.

The pocketbook of the missing man, who was known to be carrying more than $100 in currency when he left Barrington, was found lying on the floor of the car. It contained a dollar bill. Scattered about on the floor of the car was 60 cents in silver.

May Have Been Injured.
Last night the police of every community along the north shore were seeking some clue that might solve the mystery. Meanwhile Chicago detectives were checking up with various hospitals in the belief Dehne may have been shot or beaten up by holdup men.

It is believed that, if kidnaped, he may have been brought to Chicago.

Dehne drove to Barrington, about nine miles from Long Grove, Wednesday evening and reported to Walter Shannon, an automobile agent in that village, that he had sold a car of the make handled by him.

Shannon drove to Long Grove yesterday to deliver the car. He found Dehne had made the sale, but discovered Dehne's garage locked. Inquiries developed that Dehne had not returned the previous night.

Finds Empty Auto.
On the way back to Barrington Shannon found Dehne's car a mile southeast of that village. It was standing just off the cement. A rear tire was flat. A number of tools lay on the front cushion. The lights were out.

"Those tools were on the front seat when Dehne left Barrington last night," Shannon said. "I rode a little way in the car with him."

Marshall Edward Peters of Barrington found no bloodstains on the car. There were no bullet holes in the car and no signs of a struggle on the earth around the car.

"We think that possibly Dehne stopped to repair or change his tire and that some one came along, robbed him, and kidnaped him," Peters said.

We searched all up and down the Chicago and Northwestern tracks, which parallel the highway.

"We feared at first that he might have been struck by a train, but there were no signs of an accident."

Harry Dehne, a farmer at North Brook and a brother of the missing man, was unable to advance any theory as to the reason for his brother's disappearance.

"Robbery," Brother's Theory.
"He had no enemies, as far as I know," he said. "He was a sober and industrious fellow. Mr. Shannon will tell you he had not been drinking when he left Barrington. It looks to me like robbery."

Lieut. George De Mar at the detective bureau was supplied with a description of the missing man.

Dehne is 32 years old, is about 5 feet 11 inches tall, and weighs only about 125 pounds. He was wearing his work clothes at the time he disappeared—a khaki army shirt, a cap, and a leather jerkin.

AHEAD BY ONLY 3,450; OFFICIAL VOTE AWAITED

52 Precincts Out; 13 in Cook.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.
The race for the Republican nomination for United States senator is too close to be determined by unofficial and incomplete returns. The official canvass, officially proclaimed, will be necessary to determine whether former Gov. Charles S. Deneen or Senator McCormick shall be the winner.

When this edition of THE TRIBUNE was running ahead by 3,450 votes. His total was 353,742, while that of the senator was 350,292. At that point the unofficial canvass of the Associated Press stood: Fifty-two precincts were missing—thirteen in Cook county, with no hope of getting them last night, and thirty-nine downstate, with even less hope.

In Saline County.
Fifteen of these downstate precincts were in Saline County. The county clerk was asked to dig up the figures, but he claimed he did not have them and could not get them. He said that he could estimate the plurality by which Deneen would carry the county, because he said he knew pretty well what the vote would be.

It was suggested that suspicion might be directed toward Saline county, and he said that suspicious people would have to suspect.

Eighty-seven missing precincts are in Christian county, where the former governor is also leading. The county clerk said that he did not have the returns and that they had probably been mailed to the county board by the judges and clerks of election.

In Adams county, where Deneen is also leading, six precincts are missing. Newspapers of Quincy, the county seat, have been unable to get all the figures. A morning paper said it lacks eight precincts and an afternoon paper said it is shy six precincts.

"Out in the Country."
In Livingston and Alexander counties, where McCormick has a small margin, three precincts are missing in each. In both counties the missing polling districts were said to be "way out in the country," and had probably been mailed in. No one could be found who had a copy of the mailed returns.

One precinct is missing in Effingham, where Deneen has an advantage, and one precinct in Fayette, where McCormick has an edge. Two more precincts have not made returns in Pope county, where Deneen is ahead.

Some Missing in Chicago.
On a percentage basis the missing precincts could be expected to add 231 votes to the Deneen margin, but the thirteen Cook county precincts might turn the advantage to McCormick in a much larger measure. These precincts are probably "lost" until the official canvass reveals them.

No way has been devised by which the identity of these precincts may be disclosed, because the police returns did not have each set of figures correctly labeled with ward and precinct number. Some of them had no means of identification and others had wrong numbers.

Probably the largest discrepancy so far discovered is in the Forty-eighth ward. The police returns credited McCormick with 2,198 votes and Deneen with 2,424 in this ward. Figures collected from precinct captains yesterday indicate that McCormick received 4,220 and Deneen 3,297.

In such a situation it may be necessary to go back to the canvassed voters to ascertain what the wish of the voters was last Tuesday.

Bailed Box Stolen.
In the Eighteenth precinct of the Twelfth ward the ballot box, with about 250 votes inside, was stolen and is thought to have been thrown into the river at 31st street. Virgil A. Littenger, reported to have been a small worker, who is a nephew of Edward R. Littenger of the board of review, is under arrest in connection with this situation, which County Judge Jaroch characterized as "worse than anything in Russia."

In the twenty-second precinct of the Thirty-second ward it was reported that more votes were counted for United States senator in the Republican returns than were cast. The total Republican votes cast totaled 520, it is said; but the returns show 601 credited to Deneen, 23 to McCormick, and 2 to Jenkins. For governor Small was assigned 354 votes in the returns and Eastington 31—or 16 more than are said to have been cast.

Recheck State Figures.
So narrow is the margin between Deneen and McCormick that the Associated Press is rechecking the state figures.

ELECTION FRAUD CHARGED; ARREST VIRGIL LITSINGER

Ballot Box Stolen; Small Workers Accused.

Charges involving a variety of frauds on the part of Small-Densen judges and workers in election in certain sections of the city came from several sources yesterday.

Virgil J. Litsinger, a Small precinct worker and a nephew of Edward R. Densen, of the board of review, was arrested yesterday before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki in connection with the theft of a ballot box from the polling place of the Eighteenth precinct in the Twelfth ward. He was released on bonds of $12,500.

Eller Accused Czarnecki. Last night Morris Eller, Republican precinct chairman of the Twentieth ward, openly accused Election Commissioner Anthony Czarnecki of having placed nonresidents, bootleggers, and convicts on as judges and clerks in election.

It was recalled that Czarnecki formerly was allied with the old Lormer faction. He was said to be a known supporter in this campaign. "This fellow Czarnecki came out in my ward and fired all the shots and clerks and put in Small men," Eller said. "He went over the city and picked these men out of them didn't even live in the ward. They were listed as living in the homes of Small precinct cap- tains. We've investigated some of these men and they have disappeared from the ward already. The law states these must be householders."

Some Convicts, Charge. We kicked to Judge Jarecki about these fellows. One of the judges actually was still on parole. Judge Jarecki removed this man and another convict.

Early on election day I learned that they were doing. About 80 or 85 percent of the voters in our ward are foreigners or illiterates, and have to be instructed in voting. I learned these Small judges were going into the ward with these voters and in- structing them how to mark the bal- lot. The law requires that two judges be the booth with the voter to be instructed.

Tells of Ballot. Langdon said, in a voice loud enough for those outside the booth to hear, "I want to vote for Senator McCormick, Essington, Brundage, and Jones. Essington marked the ballot for Densen, Small, Carlstrom, and Jones. Langdon protested a fraud was being perpetrated. Checkers in the hall place tried to see the ballot. The man attempted to fold it up and throw it into the ballot box. The police were called. I notified the election board."

Czarnecki came out there, and I started the judge should be instantly arrested. Czarnecki spared for time, said he had to go somewhere else, and was about 7:30 in the morning, was 11:30 when I finally got to Judge Jarecki, who held court immediately. Czarnecki protested a mistake may have been made, that perhaps the judge had understood Langdon clearly. Judge Jarecki became impatient, waved Czarnecki aside, and ordered Klugman re- tired. But that was at about noon, when hundreds of votes had been cast for foreigners in that precinct alone. We have a private detective agency on these judges and this report, where has been turned over to Judge Jarecki."

Ballot Box Stolen. The ballot box stolen in the Twelfth ward is said to have held approximately 30 votes. It is believed it was thrown into the drainage canal at 51st and Madison.

Conditions in this precinct appear to be worse than those that obtain in other wards, commented Judge Jarecki in questioning a number of election judges and witnesses. "The stealing of these votes and the disenfranchising of 250 voters strikes at the very foundation of our government. I appeal to your sense of fair play to find the box and bring it in here."

Langdon Litsinger, a precinct captain of the Small forces, his sister, Verna, also a worker. According to Po- lice John J. Walsh, detailed to the front of the polling place at 51st and Madison street, he was at his post at about 4:25 in the afternoon when the clerk from a drug store next door called him and informed him he was wanted on the telephone. He said he went into the drug store, picked up the receiver, but found no one at the other end of the line. He was just about to hang up the receiver, he said, when one of the judges came rushing in and said the ballot box had been

Tells of Theft. A woman judge of elections is said to have told Judge Jarecki that about 100 votes had been cast—most of them for Densen, Brundage, and McKim—when Litsinger entered the polling place followed by a "small fellow" who grabbed the box. Densen, Brundage, and McKim were the judges, an Essington watcher, a grab for him. Litsinger, according to some of the testimony, was with the judges, and he and Sheehan went about the floor. The place was in a few seconds and the box was away with the ballot box. The automobile reported stolen by John P. Gilhooly, 2840 South Algonquin avenue, a city fireman, was found a few hours later at 51st and Madison and the canal. The rear license plate had been removed and the front end bent in such a manner as to make the number illegible.

Litsinger was charged both with election fraud, threats of vio- lence, and a primary election was held and hindered, and with "ad- vancing, procuring, and abetting the election, removing, and secreting of ballots." Judge Jarecki fixed the first case at $2,500 and the second at $10,000.

2 MORE DEATHS BRING TOLL OF AUTOS TO 135

Motorcycle Kills an Aged Woman.

The county's automobile death toll since Jan. 1 was raised to a total of 135 yesterday.

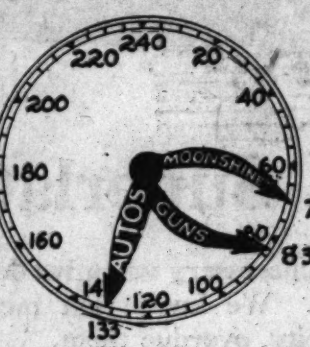

Ignatz Cortes, 6, 1902 West North avenue, who was struck by a yellow taxi cab April 2 at North and Lincoln avenues, died yesterday in St. Elizabeth's hospital. The cab driver, Leonard La Mont, 953 North Keeler avenue, was ordered to appear at the inquest today.

Dies of Injuries. Henry Pinckney, 55, 2829 Calumet avenue, a Negro, died in the county hospital of injuries received April 8, when he was struck in front of 3217 South State street by a taxicab driven by Paul Lache, 1339 Early avenue, who has been booked on a charge of manslaughter.

The motorcycle victim was Mrs. Nettie Stedman, 65, 8926 Commercial avenue, widow of Dr. J. J. Stedman, formerly of Laporte, Ind. She was struck at Essex avenue and 87th street by a motorcycle driven by Daniel Majeski, 3361 Brandon avenue, who was arrested. Mrs. Stedman died in the South Shore hospital.

Charles Bernard, driver of the motorbus which fatally injured Fred Goodman, 15, 1443 South Clifton Park avenue, Wednesday, was exonerated by a coroner's jury. Witnesses testified that the boy had swerved his bicycle into the path of the motor coach.

Another jury exonerated Mark Shanks, 4501 West Lake street, of blame for the death of Wanda Kwaschorski, 8, killed by Shanks' automobile.

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Madge Karowick, 2528 West 39th place, killed when the automobile in which she was riding, driven by her husband, collided with a street car, was continued pending an investigation.

Truck Strikes Youth. Richard Sheridan, 17, 1313 Cleveland avenue, was severely injured when he was struck by a truck driven by George Larressey, 814 Townsend street, at Ogden street and Institute place. The youth had run into the street after a baseball.

While crossing Armitage avenue, near Richmond street, William Franz, 74, 2613 Homer street, was struck by an automobile driven by Sigurd Gunderson, 1852 Dayton street, and internally injured. He was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital.

Moved by increasing recklessness on the part of student motorists, officials at Northwestern university yesterday adopted a regulation which renders the students liable to discipline by the faculty. The regulation reads: "Any student known to be guilty of reckless or irresponsible driving or riding shall be subject to discipline by the university authorities, regardless of whether the case has been dealt with by a civil court."

POLAND SEEKS TO SEND U. S. HER TROUBLE MAKERS

Would Ship Minority Politicians to America.

Because congress is about to vote on immigration legislation, The Tribune asked its foreign correspondents to describe immigration problems and conditions in the various countries of Europe. Below is the second of a series of dispatches which will appear in The Tribune.

BY DONALD DAY.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign Service.)

WARSAW, Feb. 10.—In the newborn countries of Europe, especially in the border countries such as Poland, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, and Finland, where there is a mixture of races, stable government is unknown. Cabinets fall and new cabinets are selected. These fall, new elections are called, and the ring around a rosy begins again.

The instability of these countries with mixed populations was never so emphasized as a fortnight ago when the foreign ministers of Poland, Latvia, Estonia, and Finland met in Warsaw to fall in their attempts to agree upon an arbitration pact. Not one of these ministers was more than six weeks in office.

Claim United States Is Divided.

The inefficiency of these governments of unassimilated and unmerged races, according to their own politicians, should be of especial interest to the United States at the present time. They point out that the larger American cities are rapidly coming to resemble their cities, and that just as the races in Europe prefer to live apart, so American cities are rapidly becoming a conglomeration of huge foreign colonies. These shortly will demand special privileges and laws, and in turn will form the same sort of minority parties which are creating havoc in the new governments of northwest Europe today.

Minorities Rule Nation.

Poland, for centuries the battlefield of European nations, is today fighting for her national existence against her enemies, which are the national minorities residing within her borders. All efforts on the part of the old czarist government of Russia and of the present government of Poland to assimilate these minorities have failed.

Jews, Germans, White Russians, Ukrainians, Ruthenians, and Lithuanians living within the borders of Poland have united, and when the demands of these groups are totaled nothing seems to satisfy them except the division of Poland among themselves.

While these groups only possess a total of fifty-five votes of the total 424.

Valuable as Vote Getter.

Quessie is said to control a portion of the labor vote in Chicago. Just before election day the union officials were ordered imprisoned, but were granted another stay until April 19.

Last of Beer War Murder

Cases Goes By the Board

End of the last two of the beer war murder cases came yesterday when, on the motion of the state, Judge George Fred Rush nolle-prossed murder charges against Frank McErlane, Thomas Hoban, and Daniel McFall, accused of the murders of George Beucher and George Meeghan, rival beer runners.

Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Peden told Judge Rush he had insufficient evidence to obtain a conviction, declaring witnesses had disappeared.

KORETZ IS "FOUND" AGAIN; NOW IT'S CATALINA ISLAND

The trail of Leo Koretz, which has led even to distant India since he disappeared last December, leaving thousands of bewildered victims blinking at the atmospheric remains of his $1,500,000 Bayano oil bubble, has appeared again, this time off the California coast near Los Angeles.

Miss Marie C. Schultz, who owns a confectionery store at 1017 Central street, Evanston, returned from California and reported yesterday that she encountered Koretz in the lobby of the St. Catherine hotel on Catalina island. He was accompanied by a middle-aged woman and two men, she said.

"It happened on or about Feb. 25," Miss Schultz declared. "I couldn't have mistaken him because I've seen him and members of his family scores of times near my store. He looked at me, started, but said nothing."

In the Polish parliament, the remaining 363 Polish delegates are hopelessly split into nine political parties, ranging from a radical conservative to a conservative communist party.

Jews Hold Balance of Power.

Therefore the minority group which has been welded together by the Jews swings its votes from one party to the other and obtains more legislation in its favor than any other group in the parliament. One cabinet succeeds another, and since ministers hold jobs out of the pork barrel just as we do in America, the rapidly changing officials have given Poland the undeserved and unsought for title of being one of the most inefficient governments in Europe.

Until the growing sentiment in America resulted in a radical curtailment of immigration the Polish government hoped to turn its minorities over to the United States for safe keeping. The Polish department of immigration offered every facility to any member of the minorities who wished to emigrate and did everything possible to keep the Poles at home.

Johnson Bill Alarms.

The result of this policy is that 90,000 of the minorities, about 90 percent of this number being Jews, have registered at the American consulate in Warsaw and today are waiting for their visas. Should the new Johnson immigration bill pass, cutting Poland's quota from 30,000 to 15,000, the majority of these would be obliged to reside in Poland for some years before they could join their numerous relatives in America, who have paid their passage, and Poland's troubles would continue.

Therefore official Poland views the new immigration laws being considered by the American congress with alarm and the Polish government has made several private overtures to the American government asking for a special quota for Poland so that Poland could begin to govern itself in a more efficient manner.

America Ignores Pleas.

Up to the present the American government has turned a deaf ear to these proposals, despite the fact that the Polish, Jewish, Lithuanian, Italian and Slav minorities in the United States are making the same demands to their senators and congressmen.

How'd You Like to Buy Whole Circus for a Day?

County Treasurer P. J. Carr and Mrs. Carr have bought the Sells-Floto circus for an afternoon. Arrangements were completed yesterday whereby the children of Chicago and their parents will be guests of the Carrs at the Monday matinee performance April 22. The publicity department rapturously reports that "the jungle actors will spring and roar in newly smoothed coats and manes" on this occasion, while "the pretty riders will wear their glittering ring costumes, and the air will be filled with grace and daring as personified by eighteen hurrying figures in white and silver."

RICH MINNESOTA MAN, CRUSHED BY CARS HERE, DIES

S. T. Hicks, 77 years old, resident one of the wealthiest men in southern Minnesota, died here yesterday of injuries suffered Wednesday when he was crushed. The body will be taken to Tracy, Minn., where he is a citizen, although his wife and two youngest children had moved to Minneapolis recently to enable the latter to attend the University of Minnesota. Mr. Hicks had come to Chicago to sell ten carloads of cattle. In addition to his cattle interests and property in Tracy, he was president of the Exchange State bank of South St. Paul and of the Citizens State bank of Tracy and a director in many corporations. His estate is valued at more than $1,000,000.

SENATORS HEAR HOW FIGHT FILM 'PLAYED' CHICAGO

$10,000 Fee Paid to Put It Over.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—(Special.)—Chicago politics again came under the searchlight of the Brookhart investigating committee today when a new effort was begun to bring home the nation-wide fight film "conspiracy" of 1921 to the doorstep of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and his henchmen.

Charles Weinfield of the Chicago law firm of Schuyler, Weinfield & Ettelson testified that he had accepted $10,000 and had an agreement to get $10,000 more from W. S. Barbee for getting a city permit to show the pictures in Barbee's loop theater.

At that time Samuel A. Ettelson was not a member of the firm, but was corporation counsel of Chicago. While it was not disclosed before the committee, the record of that time shows that it was an opinion of the corporation counsel that the showing of the pictures was not a violation of the law that led the police department to cease their protest against the showing. This opinion was later upheld by court decisions.

Tells of Rickard's Operations.
Alfred J. Bates, a young lawyer formerly employed in the office of Schuyler, Weinfield & Ettelson, also threw some light upon this transaction and about the operations of Fred Quimby, Alfred Urion, and Ted Rickard, and how the case was taken out of the court of former Judge K. M. Landis and brought in Judge Carpenter's court.

Mr. Bates was a very much frightened young lawyer, but Mr. Weinfield planted himself stockily in front of the committee and defended himself. Mr. Bates complained several times that members of Senator Wheeler's staff had tried to get him in private conversations to say things about Mr. Daugherty that he did not know. He admitted that he had a general impression that the fight situation was "fixed" in Washington, although he did not know.

Accuses G. O. P. Committee.
Senator Wheeler, who is about to be investigated by another senatorial committee for his alleged act in accepting a $10,000 fee from an oil client of Montana for appearing before the department of the interior, took first crack at this investigation today by tracing the activity against him in Montana to the Republican national committee. He has begun the groundwork of what may prove a conspiracy charge against the members of the national committee and the former attorney general to bring about his indictment.

Through an official of the telephone company it was established today that George Lockwood, editor of the National Republican, official organ of the committee, had telephoned yesterday to M. Blair Coan in Great Falls, Mont. Through William J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation, it was established that Coan is an investigator for Lockwood, that he is in Montana on the Wheeler case, and that Lockwood and Daugherty have been together recently.

Harry New Mentioned.
Mr. Burns also admitted that three department of justice agents had been sent to Montana on the Wheeler case. This was started, he said, at the instigation of the postoffice department, so that it appears Postmaster General Harry S. New may be brought into the case.

While Senator Wheeler was pursuing this inquiry the committee to investigate his indictment was appointed

SENATE ASKED TO OUST COMMITTEE ON REVENUE BUREAU

Washington, D. C., April 10.—A resolution proposing to discharge the special senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau from that work immediately was introduced in the senate late today by Chairman Watson [Rep., Ind.] of the investigating committee.

While the resolution made no statement as to the reason for quashing the investigation, it was an open secret that Senators Watson and Ernst of Kentucky, the two Republican members of the committee, decided upon that course in conference with Republican leaders as a consequence of the determination of Senator Couzens [Rep., Mich.] to employ Francis J. Heney of California as special counsel for the committee, paying Heney's expenses out of his own pocket.

There was no debate when Senator Watson introduced the resolution, which will come up for action tomorrow.

In the senate. It consists of Senators Borah [Rep., Idaho], chairman; McLean [Rep., Conn.], Steiwer [Rep., S. D.], Swanson [Dem., Va.], and Caraway [Dem., Ark.]. The committee met at once and authorized telegraphing Federal Judge Pray of Montana for certified copies of the papers in the case.

Senator Wheeler, ignoring the aspect of the situation concerning himself, plunged headlong into the committee examination work again today and was pounding the table in front of witnesses and "prosecuting" them as usual. He found himself at one point cross-examining George L. Miller of 101 Ranch, Okla., on the propriety of paying a $2,000 fee to Attorney John Todd, former partner of Harry Daugherty, to get a certain report to the attention of the attorney general.

Mr. Miller at the time of this Todd connection was under indictment in Oklahoma for defrauding Ponca Indians out of land.

Embarrassing, He Said.
"You wanted to get this report before the attorney general," said Senator Wheeler, rising and standing over the witness. "You didn't want to be indicted."

"I certainly didn't want to be indicted," said the witness. "That is a very embarrassing thing to have happen."

"And you would do the same thing," Senator Wheeler. "You will make every effort you can to have the indictment against you dismissed."

Mr. Weinfield had been "witnessing" around the committee room for a long time and finally pleaded to get on the stand so he could get home. His explanation was brief. He admitted at once that he had been the attorney for Barbee in the fight picture matter and in nothing else. He first heard of the Dempsey-Carpenter pictures, he said, after they were in Chicago and he was hired to get the permit.

"They had tried to get a city permit," he said, "and found they could not do it, so they came to see this firm."

"What was your fee?"

"The fee was $10,000 and $10,000 additional if the picture run was successful. They expected it would go to $150,000."

CHICAGOAN GOT $10,000

All he got, he said, was the first check for $10,000, of which he gave Bates, who had formerly worked in his office, $1,500 for "bringing in business."

He said he knew nothing of the general conspiracy, and was excused. Bates was examined at length. He said he had offices at 77 Washington street, Chicago, and had been in practice for five years. At the time of the fight film case he was an assistant corporation counsel, he testified. He was retained by Barbee, who had purchased the exclusive rights to the picture in Chicago, for two months. He said he first met Quimby in the Congress hotel, Chicago, and first saw Rickard at the federal building.

Rickard, he said, was fined $500 for the first exhibition of the films. This was two months after the pictures had been shown in New York under a similar fine.

Bates said there was an undated contract with Quimby, a sort of "gentleman's agreement," which was not to take effect until it had been shown the scheme would work in Chicago and there would be no conspiracy prosecution started by the department of justice. The contract took effect after Rickard was fined. The examination proceeded.

"The case was pending before Judge Landis?"

"I understand so."

Wanted to Jail Tex.

"Did you understand that Landis wanted to send Rickard to jail?"

"Yes."

"How was it arranged to take it out of Landis' court before Judge Carpenter?"

"I do not know how it was done but it was taken before Carpenter when Landis was away."

"Isn't it a fact that they held up the contract until they found out from Washington that a conspiracy charge was not to be filed?"

"That is not true. Other people wanted the picture."

The witness said he went to New York after this and saw "some other fellows," but he could not remember whether Lee Smith, Bill Orr or Jim Muma were there. Jack Keards was the only one he remembered.

"Do you know Mr. Weinfield?"

"Yes, sir."

"He was paid $10,000 by Barbee?"

"Yes."

"How do you know?"

"I saw him the check."

"How much did you get?"

"One thousand five hundred dollars as my commission."

"Didn't you get $5,000 or $6,000 more from Barbee?"

"Yes, that was for expenses to New York."

"Did Weinfield get $10,000 more?"

"Well, he was in it, but never got it. There was $25,000 in bonds put up, but the picture did not go long."

After the Chicago contract, the witness said, he went to New York to try to handle the picture in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

From New York, he said, he often heard Quimby calling up Urion, but he did not know what was said.

He told of a third trip to New York on the Ohio and Pennsylvania situation. He wanted assurance from Quimby. Quimby called Urion again and said he could get it through.

He said, was going to take the pictures there himself. Finally, he said, Quimby was afraid to go any further and the situation was being investigated and he said "the lid might blow off."

BURNS TESTIFIES AGAIN

Mr. Burns was examined by Senator Wheeler.

"Does Blair Coan work for you now?"

"No, sir."

"Do you know him?"

"Yes, sir. He is working for Lockwood of the Republican national committee."

"Is he in Montana trying to get evidence against me?"

"I know he has been in Montana."

"Did you have any men there?"

"There were three department of justice men there helping to present evidence to the grand jury."

The first man, he testified, was sent out by the postoffice department three or four weeks ago.

"Have you been helping Mr. Daugherty in this investigation?"

"We have discussed the investigation as more gossip. We often talk together as we are both at the Wardman Park hotel."

GO TO 'MAL'S' BANKS

Baltimore, Md., April 10.—[Special.]—En route Washington Courthouse, O.—The stage seems fixed for a battle tomorrow in the old Ohio town of Washington Courthouse, where Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, was born.

The same train that left Washington tonight with Senators E. K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.] and S. W. Brookhart [Rep., Ind.] and B. J. McLean [Rep., Ind.] also carried the former attorney general, bound home "by accident" to see his aged mother.

Harry Daugherty, followed by porters carrying bags and golf sticks, brushed by the senatorial party without appearing to notice them.

The senators will make an effort tomorrow to get at the secrets of Mal A. Daugherty's two banks in Washington Courthouse.

They do not expect much success, as there is a legal move on foot to block them.

May Recall Rosie.

They are taking a bank examiner with them. In any event, witnesses will be called to tell of visits to the famous "chuck" where Jake Hamon and other notables foregathered during the Harding days. Miss Rosie Brinson may be recalled, as she left the witness stand with the impression that she had plenty left to tell.

Mr. Daugherty, red and hearty, had little to say. He refused to comment on the Wheeler indictment. When told he had been accused of being behind it, he said: "Awful, isn't it to accuse a man of exposing a crime. Terrible thing for the national committee to do. I am going home to see mother. I hope they won't dig up the ghost of poor old Jess Smith down there, and and Gaston Means slipping $100,000 into his shroud."

DENY WOOD WILL RESIGN; ISLAND CONTENT GROWS?

Washington, D. C., April 10.—[Special.]—Reports that Leonard Wood is planning to resign as governor general in the Philippines were said today by Secretary of War Weeks to be without foundation. The secretary said he believed the reports emanated from propaganda by politician enemies of Gen. Wood.

At the same time, war department officials professed to see a disposition to "back water" by island leaders who heretofore have been loudest in demanding immediate and complete independence.

The recent statement from the White House that 1924 might be a date for granting independence with the belief that congress will take some action on the subject at this session is believed to have had the effect of switching sentiment in the islands to ultimate, rather than immediate, independence.

War department officials regard it as significant that Isuro Gabaldon, resident commissioner, recently visited Cuba to study working of the Platt amendment under which the United States retains some supervision over Cuba's affairs.

EARLY O. K. SEEN FOR BONUS BILL IN SENATE BODY

Washington, D. C., April 10.—[Special.]—Approval of the house soldiers' bonus bill with slight amendments is expected to be voted by the senate finance committee Saturday.

The committee met today to consider the bill, but deferred action in order that the Democrats may have additional time to prepare a substitute bill. The Democrats will propose an alternative cash or insurance bonus plan. The Democratic plan will be voted down in committee, it is expected, but it has a chance of approval on the floor of the senate.

Under the house bill, as favored by Republican members of the finance committee, only those entitled to less than $50 receive cash, while the others get a twenty year endowment insurance policy.

Estimates of the cost of financing the house bill range from $2,202,467, 420, the figure of H. P. Brown, actuary of the veterans' bureau, to $3,631,647, 681, that of Joseph McCoy, treasury actuary. Herbert Hoss, actuary employed by the American Legion, estimates the cost at $2,382,760,000.

ALLIES ADVIS
TO ACT QUICK
ON DAWES P

Yankees Say Delay
Mean Failure

BY HENRY WALE

Chicago Tribune Foreign News
Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune
PARIS, April 10.—Unless the Dawes experts' plan of immediate action to accept and effect the Dawes experts' plan of settlement of the reparations is doomed to failure, in the end the American representative commission.

The recommendations of the commission are based on present conditions in Germany, which cannot be changed as time passes, and on an appreciable delay the which the proposals were made. Some obsolete and the plan is only as basis for discussion, the members of the committee.

This warning was expressed today following the argument that no action will be taken by the Dawes and McKenna report after the German and French May 4 and May 11, respectively.

Fear German Nationalism

The experts fear that unless the reports are decided forthwith the German nation will use the Dawes plan for a full campaign of propaganda, asserting that Germany already solved her own domestic problems and deprecating the commission's report.

Even the collapse of the reparations plan, for it will permit them to show Germany without success expect to continue paying reparations.

The American and English members of the experts' committee believe the reparations commission plan immediately in behalf of Germany accepting or rejecting the plan within a week, the German government will declare its readiness to accept immediately, pointing out the impossibility of meeting the allies' demands.

ALLIES ADVISED TO ACT QUICKLY ON DAWES PLAN

Yankees Say Delay Will Mean Failure.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
Copyright, 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.
PARIS, April 10.—Unless there is immediate action to accept and put into effect the Dawes experts' plan for the settlement of the reparations problem, it is doomed to failure, in the opinion of the American representatives on the commission.

The recommendations of the committee are based on present day conditions in Germany, which cannot remain unchanged as time passes, and if there is an appreciable delay the bases on which the proposals were made will be obsolete and the plan available only as a basis for discussion, some of the members of the committee declared. This warning was expressed unofficially today following the announcement that no action will be taken on the Dawes and McKenna reports until after the German and French elections May 4 and May 11, respectively.

Fear German Nationalists.
The experts fear that unless adoption of the reports is decided upon forthwith the German nationalists will use the Dawes plan for a powerful campaign of propaganda in the Reichstag, asserting that Germany has already solved her own domestic problems and deprecating the committing of the German government to pay huge reparations which can be avoided. If the renunciation can be held stabilized until the elections, it is contended everywhere that the nationalists are certain of victory on the basis of their argument against the Dawes plan.

The American and English members of the experts' committee believe that the reparations commission accept the plan immediately in behalf of the allies and asks for an answer from Germany accepting or rejecting the plan within a week, the German government will declare its readiness to accept immediately, pointing out to the people the impossibility of rejecting the allies' demands.

BERLIN, April 10.—The Zeitungs Minister Stresemann's paper, tonight accepts the Dawes report as a basis of settlement of the reparations problem.

In a leading article this newspaper reflects the personal opinions of the foreign minister, says:

"The experts' report, which has as its basis reciprocal good will, makes it possible to come to satisfactory discussion of the proposals," the paper said. Herr Stresemann evidently believes that the German government can still obtain some concessions through conferences. His government naturally will attempt to get better terms than those offered, but in the end if the reparations commission decides that the Dawes recommendations should be accepted, the foreign minister also will probably counsel acceptance.

Many Elements Favor Acceptance.

Herr Stresemann's paper is greatly cheered by the fact that the experts make economic restoration of the Ruhr to Germany an absolute prerequisite to the schedule of payments outlined in the report.

Among the elements tonight favoring acceptance of the reports are the Socialists of the center, social democrats and Herr Stresemann's section of the People's party. Those who seem to be opposed are the Communists, the Stinnes section of the People's party, the nationalists and the extreme monarchists.

The financial world also accepts the report according to the evening papers. In most of the papers regret was expressed that the total sum to be paid was not named by the experts.

BRITONS STILL SILENT

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
Copyright, 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.
LONDON, April 10.—British officials, diplomats and treasury experts are still maintaining a strictly silent attitude on the report of the Dawes and McKenna committees of experts to the reparations commission. It is stated, however, that the highest British circles are both pleased and disappointed over the Dawes report, parts of which represent a triumph for the British viewpoint, while other parts represent an important surrender to the French.

The disposition here is to accept the figures, which Germany is called upon to pay as the best obtainable, and it is hoped that Germany will take this view. The British are disappointed, however, that no attempt was made by the experts to fix the total sum of Germany's indebtedness as they feel this is essential to any fair settlement of the reparations problem.

Will Plan Survive Discussions.

No one here ventures to predict the next move. While all agree that the plan is valuable as a basis of discussion no one accepts it as definitive. Some quarters feel that it can hardly survive the many discussions and conferences which are sure to follow without substantial changes and perhaps mutilations. Most depends on Germany.

If the Germans act promptly and accept the plan, Great Britain and France may be compelled to fall in without much discussion and the plan might be accepted and put into force by the reparations commission without trouble and danger from international conferences.

DEADLOCK NEXT MARCH FORECAST BY VOTE IN HOUSE

Insurgents, Democrats
Save 1 Congress Seat.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—(Special.)—The specter of the deadlock in the choice of a President of the United States, which presumably would develop if the presidential election this year should be thrown into the house of representatives, hovered over the decision of a contest over a seat in that body today.

If no candidate for President should receive a majority of electoral votes next November the choice would devolve upon the house next February. The house would vote by states, one vote each, and twenty-five votes would be necessary to elect. There are now twenty-three Republican state delegations in the house, twenty Democratic, and five states are equally divided.

The New York delegation is Democratic by a majority of one, and if a New York Democrat should be unseated the delegation would be Republican by a majority of one and the Republicans would need only one more state vote to elect a President in the house.

Unusual interest, therefore, attached to the consideration by the house this afternoon of the contest brought by former Representative Chandler (Rep., N. Y.) against Representative Bloom (Dem., N. Y.). After several hours' debate, in which the electoral contingency of the inquiry was referred to, the house upheld the title of Bloom to his seat and thereby left the number of Republican and Democratic delegations unchanged.

Insurgents Save Bloom.

The vote was 210 in favor of Bloom and 198 against.

The vote would have gone against Bloom and the New York delegation would have been transferred to the Republican list but for the attitude of seven insurgent Republicans, one independent, and one Farmer-Labor, most of whom are supporters of La Follette for President. These Republicans, Beck, Schaefer, Schneider, Peavey, and Nelson of Wisconsin, Keller of Minnesota, and Mrs. Nolan of California, Kvale (Ind., Minn.), and Wefald (F. L., Minn.), voted with the Democrats to sustain Bloom.

The attitude of the Republican insurgents indicated that they could not be relied upon to assist the regular Republicans in electing their candidate for President if the choice should go to the house. With Wisconsin in revolt, the Republicans can count on only twenty-two state votes.

Radicals Seem Power.

Representative Nelson referred to the fact that the seating of Chandler would change the vote of the state should the presidential election be thrown into the house.

"While this political exigency has

HE TELEPHONES HER EVERY FIVE MINUTES DURING 24 HOURS

What police declare to be a telephone record was uncovered yesterday with the arrest of John T. Murray, 681 Diversey parkway, who admitted he had phoned Mrs. Lottie Tucker, 4833 Kenmore avenue, every five minutes for nearly twenty-four hours.

Mrs. Tucker, who caused Murray's arrest, said their relations during the last two years had been very friendly, but several days ago a quarrel caused her to issue an ultimatum—and that was that she would never talk to Murray again.

After securing a large quantity of nickels, Murray tried in vain to make the lady of his choice change her mind. Judge Barasa in Chicago avenue court ordered Murray to find some new phone numbers and never to call the Kenmore address again.

been whispered about in the cloak-rooms and throughout the corridors," said Mr. Nelson. "I do not believe that any such ignoble motive is the primary cause of this partisan contest. To unseat a duly elected member of congress for the purpose of getting control of a state delegation, so as to elect a President, would be bold and hazardous to the nth degree. The end would not justify the means. The only way that Mr. Bloom's seat can be taken from him, to meet either this rumored political presidential exigency or the great personal desire of the contestant, is for us to vote solidly as a party to throw out three election precincts as proposed by the committee report. Here is where Mr. Chandler and I come to the parting of the ways; and here, too, is a fork in the road for the Republican party."

The question whether New York is to stay in the Democratic column in the house or go into the Republican column will recur when the contest of the seat held by Representative Weller (Dem., N. Y.) comes up. There is also a Democratic contest against Representative La Guardia (Rep., N. Y.).

BOSTON PEABODY MAKES COOLIDGE WAIT—AND SMILE

Then Tells 1,000 Women of Law Enforcement.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—(Special.)—The President smiled. He smiled a smile which, when it reached its perihelion, was, as the word perihelion implies, really sunny. He smiled because a Peabody of Boston kept him waiting. A Boston Peabody would do that without a qualm. You remember the family in Massachusetts they have toward it, and it was old George Peabody of Boston who gave half a million sterling to the London poor.

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody is the present representative of the family. She is a woman who kept the President of the United States standing, gray haired in hand, on the stone stairway that circles down from the south portico of the White House to the White House lawn.

Mrs. Peabody got lost. She had come through the east portico with a thousand representative women of the United States in her train, and those women—all members of the Woman's National Conference for Law Enforcement—were to hear a speech by the President and be received by his wife.

But somehow Mrs. Peabody, who is general chairman of the women's organization, got lost in her train. The moment was more than critical; it was panic.

This was critical because Mrs. Peabody, who is general chairman of the national committee for law enforcement, was to be presented to the President on behalf of the entire 1,000 on the lawn. A vicious introduction, as it were.

Meantime, while they were hunting Mrs. Peabody of Boston, who had got lost away on the outskirts of the crowd, you had a chance to study the phenomenon, which many fellow citizens think never happens—the Presidential Smile. But it does happen; and when it happens it is worthy of the capital "S" I have given it. It begins rather pallidly on Calvin Coolidge's thin lips, and then it wrinkles his cheeks lightly, and then it made little fine lines—like minor rivers on a map—at the corners of his eyes, and then it began to twinkle in his eyes and ever to sort of dance there, until the smile was a genuine, human, happy smile that set all the women cowering. It was a really radiant smile, and you could enjoy it a hundred feet away.

Mrs. Peabody appears. By that time they had found Mrs. Peabody of Boston, who was unflustered, and had broken a lane for her through the law enforcers, who sighed with relief.

Then Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who was wearing over her white hair a hat that I would say was a very becoming hat, and a long and curiously wrought chain of dark silver, and a blue dress, and who has a high, cheery, pleasant voice, presented the lost and late Mrs. Peabody in person, and, turning to the strong, added, "Ladies, I am so thrilled to be able to present you to the President of the United States."

So were all the ladies thrilled, and there was an earnest, sedate patter of gloved hands.

Exit Smile—Enter Talk. The President suddenly extinguished his smile and as suddenly began to talk. Law—also with a capital "L."

He did not placidly lead the women in the way that used to be accounted necessary when statesmen talked to "the fair sex," as statesmen used to call them.

He began in a tone and with a word as intensely characteristic of him; for the tone was hard and definite, but so deliberate, and the words were these: "You are an association, I am told, gathered together for the better enforcement of the law."

Then he forged ahead in his little impromptu on Law, saying: "Now, just what is it that we mean by the law?"

That question, too, was altogether characteristic of his mind and method. Starts on Fundamentals.

He likes to get his starting point among the fundamentals. So he asked the women to give a moment's consideration to his question, and when he seemed to think they had done that he continued with:

"I will see that the law is a rule of action. That is why enforcement is sometimes so difficult."

Then fundamental after fundamental—thus: "It is very easy to enact legislation."

"We have state legislatures, and the national congress, that each year put upon the statute books thousands upon thousands of enactments to regulate and control our conduct."

"It is of no avail unless behind it there is a sentiment that will enforce."

"A sometimes with people would put a little more emphasis upon observance of the law and a little less upon its enforcement."

"It is a measure of our institutions that the government does not make the people but the people make the government."

He was glad, therefore, to see the women. It encouraged him, he said, for it represented a determination on their part to observe the law and to get it observed. And with that kind of sentiment the result, he declared, could not long be in doubt.

Movement "of the People." Law observance and enforcement represent what he called "a popular movement," and then he told why he called it "popular," for he was using that word in its old sense of "of the people."

"Any of the great acts of legislation, any of the important articles of constitutions, any of the great charters of liberty, have always been for the purpose of protecting the weak from the impositions of the strong."

"In a state where you find lack of law respect and lack of law observance you will find that the strong are imposing upon the weak and that the strong are bringing liberty to destruction."

"Now the practical question comes—and all these things are intensely practical—what can we do to secure enforcement?"

An Awakening of Conscience. "We have to do what we do in all movements for the betterment of the race."

"We have to have an awakening of the conscience. That is what you represent and that is why your presence encourages me. It shows not only that we have law on the statute books, but that there is behind them the determination of an awakened conscience which decides to the world that our liberties are to be made forever secure."

New Attorney General Talks. During their shortening session the women were addressed by the new attorney general, Mr. Stimson, who earnestly urged them to give him definite suggestions about enforcement, and by the new secretary of the navy, Judge Wilbur, who said, "Some men think the Volstead act and the prohibition amendment are a joke, but it is the Stars and Stripes that they are laughing at," and by Mrs. Peabody of Boston, who epitomized the spirit of this coming together of a thousand of the best wives and mothers in this country by telling the best story of the day.

It was the story of the little boy's visiting grandmother who said to him, "You know, dear, I am your grandmother on your father's side."

And the little boy replied, "Well, if you're going to stay here you'd better get on mother's side."

"That's the spirit."

HESITANT M'CRAY JURY LOCKED UP; JUDGE GOES HOME

Indianapolis, Ind., April 10.—The jury in the trial of Gov. McCray, charged with embezzlement of state funds, was ordered locked up for the night by Judge Harry O. Chamberlain at 10:30 p. m. In event a verdict is reached it will be delivered to Judge Chamberlain at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow when court reconvenes.

The jury has been deliberating since 2:25 p. m. this afternoon. The case was given to the jury after Judge Chamberlain had read his instructions.

Final arguments were made this forenoon by M. A. Ryan for the defense and Eph Inman, special deputy prosecutor, for the state.

Mr. Ryan contended that if the jury should find that the governor had "borrowed" the $155,000 from the agriculture board, as the defense has contended, it must find him not guilty.

Defense attorneys turned loose a broadside on I. Newt Brown, former secretary-treasurer of the board of agriculture, who turned the money over to McCray, asserting McCray had paid it back to the last dollar.

Prosecution attorneys denounced the acts of McCray as a disgrace to the state and his business associates and former personal friends. Mr. Inman asked the jurors to speak "without favor or fear." He said he held no political party responsible for the crimes of Warren T. McCray, adding that "the wrongdoings of this man are strictly his own."

McCray's defense attorneys contended that the governor had "borrowed" the money and would pay it back to the last dollar.

HOMER K. GALPIN
QUITS AS CHAIRMAN OF COUNTY G.

Speculate on Reas
Resigns Chairman

BY PARKE BROOKS

Homer K. Galpin announced his retirement as chairman of Cook county Republican committee. In a conference with his associates he said he would not be a candidate for reelection at the county convention.

As the Bruns-Galpin-Crowe-Barrett organization is in control of the county, and will have control of the convention, Galpin's reelection was considered a foregone conclusion.

Galpin's position is that he would have been possible to him in office by blocking a reelection if such tactics were required. His decision means that a new man will have to be selected.

Galpin Favors Barrett. It is understood that Galpin favors the election of Barrett, treasurer of the county. Barrett's position is that he should retain his post while Galpin is treasurer. Under the provisions it is possible that Barrett or August W. Miller might be chairman.

It is understood that Galpin is the result of the renomination of Gov. Len Small, to whom Galpin was strongly opposed, and would have continued as chairman after the fall campaign if Galpin had won. But he declined to run on this phase of the matter.

"I have held the chairmanship eight years," he said, "and I have given more time to the position. Frequently this involved working hard day and night. I feel that I have done my best. I have had the subject of my decision not to be a candidate again is unalterable."

Give Other Reasons. Another reason for his decision is that he has made the target for newspaper attacks and would not have been able to continue because of his political position. The latest of these was an attack in the testimony of Brice Armstrong, prohibition agent, before a committee in Washington.

HOMER K. GALPIN QUITS AS CHIEF OF COUNTY C. O. P.

Speculate on Reason He Resigns Chairmanship.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Homer K. Galpin announced yesterday his retirement as chairman of the Cook county Republican committee. In a conference with his associates he said he would not be a candidate for reelection at the county convention.

As the Bruns-Galpin-Barrett organization is in control of the committee and will have control of the convention, Galpin's reelection was considered. (Matsens Photo.)

Galpin said he would accept it. Or it might have been possible to continue in office by blocking a reorganization if such tactics were required, but his decision means that a new chairman will have to be selected.

Galpin Favors Barrett.

It is understood that Galpin personally favors the election of Charles V. Barrett, treasurer of the committee. Barrett's position is that Galpin should retain his post while he continues as treasurer. Under these conditions it is possible that William H. Weber or August W. Miller will be elected chairman.

It is understood that Galpin's decision is the result of the nomination of Gov. Len Small, to whom he has been strongly opposed, and that he would have continued as chairman until after the fall campaign if Ewing had won. But he declined to comment on this phase of the matter.

"I have held the chairmanship for eight years," he said, "and in every campaign have given three months more of my time to the duties of the position. Frequently this has involved working hard day and night. Therefore, I feel that I have done my share. I have had the subject under consideration for several months, and my decision not to be a candidate for chairman again is unalterable."

Give Other Reasons.

Another reason for his decision is said to be the fact that he has been made the target for newspaper attacks which he contends were without foundation and would not have been made except because of his political position. The latest of these was an attack based on the testimony of Brice Armstrong, a prohibition agent, before a senate committee in Washington.

The conference of the committee members was called to discuss the entire Sitka, Alaska, April 10.—[By the Associated Press.]—The four United States army airplanes flying around the world which arrived here at 12:45 p. m. today from Prince Rupert, B. C., were to remain here for the night at least, before resuming their westward journey.

The planes flew the 300 miles from Prince Rupert, B. C., in 4 hours 21 minutes. The time here is an hour later than at Prince Rupert. The next stop is to be Cordova, Alaska, 475 miles northwest of here. Sitka was the capital of Alaska when the United States bought the territory from Russia in 1867. The landing was without incident and the weather good.

STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE IS IN HANDS OF SMALL

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Gov. Len Small probably will control the new Republican state committee. Results of the committee fights in the ten Cook county districts and incomplete returns from the fifteen downstate indicate that a majority of anti-administration candidates were defeated in Tuesday's primary.

Small captured at least five of the ten Cook county committees and six of his downstate candidates are leading in the incomplete returns.

Some Get Wobbly.

Thirteen votes control the committee. If the governor has not actually won that many in the open fight his renomination probably will sway the one or two committeemen needed to give him control. Several nominal anti-Small committeemen are said to be more or less wobbly, and it would not be surprising if they climb into the administration band wagon.

Frank L. Smith, former state chairman and head of Small's Illinois commerce commission, is expected to head the new committee if the administration wins, as the latest returns indicate.

Rosenfield a Victor.

Chairman Walter A. Rosenfield appears to have won in a close finish in the Fourteenth (Rock Island) district with Mayor Claud Sandstrom of Moline, the Small candidate, but with Small in control of the committee and renominated himself Rosenfield will make no bid for the chairmanship again.

George E. Keys, secretary of the outgoing committee, defeated the Small candidate, William E. Beynon, in the Twenty-first (Springfield) district.

Judge Walter P. Steffen, committeeman from the Ninth district, was named out by Charles E. Pease, the Small candidate, in the closest settled contest. One of the big surprises was the apparent defeat of Committeeman

George M. Wiley by Dr. Sam W. Leatham in the Twenty-fourth district.

The new committee will have charge of the Republican state campaign including Small's own candidacy for reelection and anti-administration forces agree that in the face of results they have been served embarrassment by losing the committee.

The new Democratic state committee will organize at the Springfield convention April 18. Chairman Thomas F. Donovan may not seek reelection as a result of his nomination for attorney general and three names have been tentatively considered for the chairmanship by party leaders. These are Reed Green of Cairo, E. E. Pyke of Centralia, and P. E. Coleman of La Salle. Mayor Dwyer, Mr. Green, and three leaders under consideration for Free P. Morris of Watseka, are the harmony keynotes as convention chairman.

$24,000,000 Tax Decrease
Urged in Canada's Budget

Ottawa, Ont., April 10.—[By the Associated Press.]—A reduction of $24,000,000 in the dominion's revenue was proposed in a tax budget submitted to the house of commons today by J. A. Robb, acting minister of finance.

MANY CHANGES IN STATE SENATE FOLLOW VOTING

At least two, and perhaps five Republican state senators were unseated in Tuesday's primaries. Ten and probably more state representatives also went down to defeat. These are the apparent results of the primary with many downstate precincts still to report, but unlikely to change the present status.

Five Republican senators are retiring voluntarily. They are Buck (Warren), Mills (Cass), Glenn (Jackson), Smith (Macon), and Ettelson (Chicago). This and the primary results make important changes in the next senate with the November election yet to come.

Senator John D. Turnbaugh (Rep., Carroll) was defeated by State Representative Joseph L. Meyers, candidate of the state administration. Senator Frank O. Hanson (Rep., McLean) lost to Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer.

The party division of the seventy-five representatives who have been elected as well as nominated in the primary follows: Republicans, 42; Democrats, 33.

ROUMANIAN KING IN PARIS FOR AID AGAINST RUSSIA

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] PARIS, April 10.—King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Roumania received on their arrival royal welcome in Paris today. Nevertheless French secret police are taking extra precautions to prevent attempts on their lives in view of threats from communists.

While it is stated the visit is purely a friendly call, it is understood that the royal visitors seek a new Franco-Roumanian treaty of alliance, supplementing the little entente accords and another substantial French loan. The Roumanian monarchs are sure to sound out the French attitude on Russia's warlike actions. Roumania fears a Russian attempt to seize the province of Bessarabia.

Roumania desperately needs France as an ally at the present time, when the Roumanian sovereigns have just been snubbed by Italy and Spain through Premier Mussolini's edict cancelling the Roumanian royal visit to Rome until Roumania pays its Italian debts. Spain supported Italy's demand.

THE DAWES REPORT.

The Dawes report, just completed, offers, we believe, the best promise of restoration of tranquility and prosperity in Europe since the armistice. The Versailles treaty has proved itself, through five years' experience, to be more a treaty of war than a treaty of peace. It has promoted enmity, not friendship. It has been a constant source of new friction and new danger. It has brought no settlement or likelihood of settlement of reparations, international debts, or international hatreds. The Dawes report opens the way to such settlements. It imposes a heavy burden upon Germany and some concessions upon France and her allies. It reveals once more that war is costly alike to victor and vanquished, but more costly to the latter. But if accepted by the nations involved, in the spirit in which it seems to have been written, it can bring peace and stability. There is some evident inclination in France to accept it, as there is in England. There is some probability that Germany will accept it. If each country does its part the outlook will be brighter.

But one thing should be emphasized in this country. The French press asks if the allies will underwrite the report and will go to the extent of using force to make it work. There are carried back to the old position. The United States will underwrite nothing with reference to reparations in Europe and will not undertake to use force to make any European understanding work. We did not write this adjustment or have any official part in writing it. We contributed the services of two efficient Americans to the work, and that is all. The nations immediately concerned can take it or leave it. If they take it on their merits, we feel certain, they will find it leads toward peace, prosperity, and stability. If they refuse they may continue to enjoy the same conditions under which they have existed for the last five years, or worse.

SHALL U. S. ABDICATE FOR FORD?

The proposal to make a virtual gift of the government's vast natural resources and improvements at Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford is again before the senate. Senator McKinley of Illinois attacks the bill which has passed the house with proper criticism of the fertilizer features, which have been Ford's chief propaganda in obtaining rural support for his proposition to take over the water power. The senator's argument is excellent in so far as it goes. It fails, however, to emphasize sufficiently that the proposition is only one-eighth fertilizer and seven-eighths water power.

It is a point of paramount importance that the Ford proposal would make the gift of these natural resources and improvements irrevocable for at least 100 years, and allows the Ford company preferred rights to extend it for another 100 years. That clause in the Ford offer strikes at the heart of the principle of conservation of natural resources. It arbitrarily overrides the federal water power act, which wisely sets a fifty year limit upon all federal water power leases.

The federal water power act, at the time of its passage, was hailed as one of the most constructive pieces of legislation ever adopted for the development and conservation of natural resources. Yet it would be wrecked in principle by the McKinley bill in behalf of Ford.

If Ford is acting in good faith why does he demand that this natural resource be turned over to him, entirely free of government control or regulation, for 100 years? He is past 60 years old. He cannot expect to retain personal control of the development for even a quarter of the time asked. Yet he demands that absolute control, without a vestige of government supervision, be vested in his company for the full period.

His demand for such complete independence in the control and operation of the properties is supported by some on the theory that he is a superman; that when he gives a promise to do certain things they are as good as done. They ignore the fact that even if that were all true he could not maintain his vaunted efficiency after death. It is folly.

But it is interesting as revealing the uncanny influence which Ford evidently exerted in the house in behalf of his personal project. That influence is demonstrated by such facts as that out of eight members of the house committee which reported the bill favorably, seven, comparatively unimportant, informed on its insuperable complexities, voted for it. It is further demonstrated by the fact that congressmen who have repeatedly condemned for the strictest government regulation of railroads, etc., approved the Ford proposal despite the fact that it stipulated specifically that the government should have no control or supervision over rates and distribution of power.

They would take a natural resource, the heritage of the American people, developed and financed by the people, and turn it over to a private individual for 100 years without possibility of control or re- capture. Whatever Ford desired he could do with it. No nation-wide superpower system could connect with it if he objected. No neighboring state or city could buy its power if he objected. No industrial or economic need could be supplied from it if he objected. And this obstacle to public advancement would be put into the hands of persons unknown, after the lapse of the few brief years in which Ford himself might be expected to remain active.

It means government abdication and the wrecking of important laws and principles for Ford. Shall the senate permit it?

A WILD BILL FOR FARMERS.

The McNary-Haugen agricultural export bill, which would appropriate $200,000,000 of federal funds as working capital for a government corporation to adjust in various ways the discrepancies between farmers' incomes and outgo, is now before the house ways and means committee. Although it is a long, complicated, and unpleasantly dry piece of legislation, it ought to be given consideration by all thoughtful Americans, whether farmers or otherwise.

At bottom it is a price fixing measure. Price fixing by governmental decree has been tried and has failed repeatedly. There are definite records of such trials and failures as far back as the reign of the Emperor Julian in the fourth century and of Charlemagne in the ninth. Each attempt and failure, without exception, has proved the fundamental error of attempting to legislate economic law, and at the same time has proved far more costly and destructive than the cash outlay to the people involved.

The McNary-Haugen bill is of a piece with the others. Some, perhaps many, of the farmers in the United States are in a bad way financially. None will dispute that. For the most part they are paying high prices for what they buy and obtaining low prices for what they sell. It is that situation, and the political opportunity it presented, which caused the organization of the farm bloc in congress. That bloc wielded a balance of power which made it effective. It presented and obtained the passage of dozens of laws, large and small, designed to relieve the farmer. Yet we find the farmer, despite the wheat farmer, insisting that he is unrelieved. The condition remains, but the experience of failure to remedy the condition by law is forgotten.

So now the farmers, through the McNary-Haugen bill, are demanding again, in the face of adverse experience, that a new law must be passed to save them. The bill proposes to do it in this way: Have the $200,000,000 government corporation buy farm products, chiefly wheat, but possibly cattle, hogs, and other things if need be, at a fixed price, to be adjusted from time to time in accordance with the price the farmer must pay for machinery, clothes, dry goods, groceries, etc. Let this corporation market these products abroad and pay the farmer whatever cash is received, plus "scrap" for the difference between the buying and selling price.

That means not only governmental price fixing, but, in effect, inflation of currency. The farmers have only to look to Russia, Germany, Austria, and other European countries to see what inflation of currency means. Yet they support that economic fallacy as well as the other if they support this bill. More than that, they are promoting a plan which would lead to government control and operation of various basic industries, such as meat packing, in no other way than by building or buying tremendous meat packing establishments, warehouses, yards, etc., could the export corporation handle the live stock which would come under the bill for export. The way in which government handles such complicated private business is too well revealed in disclosures recently made in Washington.

And the fact that those disclosures would be a petty incident compared with the opportunities for graft opened in this bill is revealed clearly. The corporation could fix prices. There is no penalty for its members if they tip off friends or use the information of coming changes to play the market. Graft would be rampant. There are but a few of the possibilities in this wild bill. It is all wrong.

"YEA, A DANIEL."

Senator Wheeler of Montana, prosecutor of the senate's Daugherty investigating committee, has been indicted by a federal grand jury in Montana on the charge that he appeared before the department of the interior, for a fee, in behalf of an oil client. The senator is now to be investigated himself by a special committee. He says the indictment is persecution and blackmail.

That defense can be understood. We do not, in fact, attach a great deal of significance to the indictment, or to the investigation which it prompts. But we are moved to wonder at the senator's reversal of attitude on the general subject of investigations.

As prosecutor he takes all charges against any member or friend of the administration most seriously, regardless of the character of plaintiffs or witnesses. He accords all such charges the full weight of competent evidence. What would he do, we wonder, if the indictment now standing against him had been returned against Senator Elkins, or even against Howard Mannington? Just imagine what he would do if that were the case.

Editorial of the Day

THEY KNOW THEIR ENEMY.
(The Daily Oklahoman.)

Now an initiated bill to hamstring the press and its editors! While this is the latest effort to circumvent the constitution it is by no means the first. Ever since Gutenberg invented movable type and made journalism possible the enemies of truth and the patrons of imposture have hated the press and sought to destroy it. Their fear was aptly expressed by Napoleon when he said, "I fear one newspaper more than I fear 100,000 bayonets."

All patriots sincerely desire an improvement in journalism and many of them offer valuable suggestions for improvement. But the grafter and the demagogue have no suggestion to advance save the suggestion of destruction. Notwithstanding the constitution guarantees the freedom of the press along with the freedom of speech and public assembly, incessant war to destroy that liberty is ever waged by public exploiters, official grafters, and the wet nurses of quick reforms that would not for an instant live in the light of publicity.

It is significant that every enemy of public liberty and official rectitude hates the press with a religious hatred and never slanders or slanders in the efforts to destroy it. There is no exception to this rule; every demagogue with a questionable measure, every crook with the lust for larceny, every scoundrel-brain with a freak idea, every grafter with a scheme of plunder, hates the press with an undying hatred and almost invariably begins his pet campaign with a virulent attack on the press.

Conversely, no campaign for an honest project or one that will bear publicity has ever been initiated with a denunciation of the press.

While the people of Oklahoma are considering a scheme to place the press under the domination of a partisan board that works at midnight for the undoing of the commonwealth, they might, with profit, undertake to bring within the purview of the statute of vagrancy the gentry who from the day of statehood have never performed an hour of honest labor, who devote their lives to political chicanery, and whose lucrative pastime is soliciting funds from a credulous public to finance schemes of questionable merit.

THE EFFECT OF COLORS.

IN the long list of medical fakes which the public has fallen, none was much rarer than the blue glass craze. In this idea there was a germ of truth, though the barnacles attached to it made the truth germlike in its proportions.

Very scientific studies of light show that different parts of the ray have different physiological and physical effects. Before the end of this century the blue glass notion will be born again, though the new incarnation will differ as greatly as do the incarnations through which our Indian friends tell us the human soul passes.

A recent number of "The Modern Hospital" carries a discussion of the color of hospital ceilings and walls in which the effect of the color of the walls as well as illumination of the space were discussed. Some of the proposals will be of interest to people in the home.

Sixty per cent of all impressions made on the mind reach there through sight. While most of these are brought about by qualities other than color, nevertheless color is very important. Mr. Paul, who writes the article referred to, speaks of three qualities of a color—hue, brilliancy or luminosity, and saturation. While some allowance must be made for the peculiarities of individuals, as a rule reactions to different colors are fairly definite.

Deep orange is the most exciting color, next ranking second; violet and yellow are the least exciting. Yellow-green is the most tranquillizing, green, being second. Crimson-scarlet and deep orange are at the other end of the line. Violet is the most soothing color, purple next. Scarlet, deep orange, orange yellow, yellow and green are at the other end. Red is a stimulating color. Comparatively strong red side walls, where the red is mixed with a good deal of yellow, are suitable for the rooms occupied by depressed, melancholy people.

Yellow is luminous and carries with it warm brightness and a softly exciting character. One drawback to yellow walls is the fact that they are readily soiled, and, when soiled, are unattractive. Orange, caused by restlessness and excitement, is a stimulating color. It is very useful. It makes a fine color for rooms occupied by nervous people.

Blue is depressing. It makes a room seem larger, but it also makes it look colder, and, as a result, is the most depressing of all the colors. Medium gray is neither warm nor cold, stimulating nor depressing. A gray wall with a light reflecting factor of 45 per cent would be about right for an average

MOISTENING THE AIR.

P. E. K. writes: My furnace is of the hot type with a water pump in the usual place where it does no good. To avoid the extra daily chore of having to look after various pans of water to be evaporated, I have constructed a refrigerator pan, located directly on top of the furnace. This is connected by means of a three fourth inch pipe to a constant level tank just outside the furnace. This constant level tank is connected to the soft water supply system, and constant level is maintained in it by means of a float valve similar to those used in the ordinary flushing tank.

The outfit is a complete success. When cold weather arrives, and I start the furnace fire, I merely turn on the water supply, and then forget about it until warm weather again arrives. Humidity measurements in the home indicate 35 to 40 per cent—perhaps not quite what it ought to be, but, nevertheless, very much better than in the majority of homes.

Because of the simplicity of this apparatus as applied to the hot air heating system, I am completely "sold" on the hot air furnace which permits warmth, ventilation and moisture to be obtained more simply than with any other kind of heating plant. It is important, of course, to select a furnace which does not leak smoke and dust. Such furnaces are obtainable. Finally, with the increasing use of oil burners and their freedom from dust and dirt, the last argument against the hot air furnace falls away.

AN AUTOMATIC SOLUTION.

F. writes: One of our correspondents would be quite dependent about the problem of the water pan in his furnace. If he has water pipes in his cellar, he can easily solve the problem, as I have done, in the following manner:

Install an automatic copper water closet tank with a ball float valve, cut an opening in the jacket of the furnace at the fire level to receive a side of the tank, making as close a fit as possible.

Make a suitable cover to cover the portion of the tank opening remaining outside the furnace jacket. Connect the tank with the water supply and adjust the ball so that the water will be shut off before the ball outside strikes the cover.

This method has proved perfectly successful, being noiseless in operation and always on the job. In localities where the water contains much sediment, the tank should be cleaned occasionally.

GIVING ONE'S AGE AT REGISTRATION.

Chicago, April 8.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—There is a question as to whether or not a man or woman is required to give his or her age at the time of registration in connection with the election laws of the state, and that is, do persons have to give their exact age when registering at the registration booth?

Kindly cite the law covering the state and also the national elections in reference to the above question.

I ask this information as it has come to my attention that a number of our best citizens are of the opinion that it is not necessary to give their exact age when registering at the registration booth.

We do not understand how you can get a certificate of your birth unless a record has been kept. However, it seems strange that there is no such record, and we suggest that you communicate with the public authorities of the city or locality in which you were born for further information.

SHE SLINGS A WICKED TYPEWRITER.

R. H. L.: Helen Henna is clever, exceedingly clever, and she has a genuine talent for biting, exceeding satire. When she shoots at a thing she never misses the mark, either! Take that E. E. Cummings wheeze of hers last Thursday. Any one who has read Cummings' ultra-modern poetry, with its repetitions and weird punctuation, must have found her comparison so damnably apt, witty, and malicious that he was swept off his feet. I know Cummings' work pretty well and admire it; he's an original, forceful personality today, but I simply shouted over Helen Henna's letter. I said to myself, "Now, why couldn't I have thought of that!"—which is my measuring rod for good satire.

Geno, We're Sorry, But We Can Only Be a Brother to You.

Garfield, "God reigns and the government at Washington still lives."

David Was Not Very Good on the Harp.

I'VE READ IT ALL DAY.

(To Amy Lowell.)

I've read it all day,
But what does it mean?
Vers libre, they say,
I've read it all day.
There's sense in a way,
Nouns with verbs in between,
I've read it all day,
But what does it mean?

I can't see their sense.
Is there any to see?
Perhaps I am dense,
I can't see their sense.
Concentration intense
Helps no slightest degree,
I can't see their sense.
Is there any to see?

No meter, no rhyme,
No meaning—they're crazy!
I think it's a crime,
No meter, no rhyme!
They haven't the time,
Or else they're too lazy.
No meter, no rhyme,
No meaning. They're crazy!

LEN, since it was our singing of "Oh Pardon Me" over the radio won the fight for you, what job will you give us if we come out for Mr. Bones, or Mr. Soames, or Mr. Jones, or whatever his name is, anyhow the Democratic nominee, and sing another song about you before election day?

To Editor Line o' Type or Two: In Monday's Nutt, in which he attempts to explain the meaning of the inscription over the colonial fireplace, all his talk about the British and bullets is simply ridiculous. I am inclosing the correct interpretation, which I learned over forty years ago. It is as follows:

ARE WE DOWNHELMED? No! For Smalls may come and Smalls may go, but Hank, Vangie, and we will keep right on getting out this Pillar of Persiflage each and every day.

AND, BESIDES, we can get lots more fun out of Len than we could ever have got out of Thurlow. (Duff) the Goat was begun.

"SMALL SEEMS TO HAVE WON."
Looks like you beat your own candidate. Get next to yourself.
D. F. ROOMS.

AND CONTRARY TO CUSTOM WE PRINT THE FOLLOWING COMMENTS, ALTHOUGH ANONYMOUS:

"Small Seems to Have Won." Yes, you dirty skunk, and you helped him win. The World's Rottentest Newspaper, by its vile, filthy attacks upon him, turned decent voters to swing to Small. I hate Small as much as you do, but I kept it to myself. If I were running for office I would like nothing better than to have the World's Rottentest Newspaper against me. And even your taking over control of WJAZ radio station didn't help you lick Small. I voted for him simply because we were against him. In fact, I'm against anything, anybody, everything, everybody THE TRIBUNE is for.

AND HE SAID WE WERE PERSECUTING HIM.

Yes, THE TRIBUNE nominated Small. Most good citizens find out what this "truth" wants, and then vote the other way. If you want to defeat a man, support him.

AND THE EASIEST TO WRITE.

"Small Seems to Have Won" was the best editorial ever written by The World's Greatest Nuissance.

YES, SO IT SEEMS.
"Small Seems to Have Won." Yes, so it seems. Which goes to prove that malicious persecution has never won any cause, and the people are learning this more every day.

AND THEN WHAT?

Congratulations on your success in nominating Small. If you live long enough you will probably learn that the best way to elect a man is to knock him continuously.

VERY WELL.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the Chicago Daily News congratulate Gov. Small, ex-Gov. Deneen, and Oscar E. Carlstrom in receiving a handsome majority at the hands of an intelligent electorate at yesterday's primary.

To insure their defeat at the next election it will be the policy of THE TRIBUNE and News to support the candidacy of Messrs. Small, Deneen, and Carlstrom. Sample ballots of said candidates will be marked accordingly, assuring us that the voters will vote otherwise.

IF THE PEOPLE ARE NOT BILKED, ASIZE WILL.

"Small Seems to Have Won." THE TRIBUNE (W. G. N.) nominated him. In their extreme effort to unseat the opponent they forgot to sell their own man.

The overwhelming majority by which Small was nominated proves conclusively that the people will not be bilked by make in the grass methods—even in politics.

YOU NEVER CAN TELL.

THE TRIBUNE'S bitter fight against Small resulted, as it did against Thompson, in his election. Who will you elect next by such tactics?

FAIR ENOUGH.

GIFTS FOR EASTER

Easter is becoming more and more a time for exchanging dainty little gifts, fragrant with the happy spirit of the season. We are suggesting a few from the hundreds of appropriate ones with which this store abounds.

Fresh New Gloves

The finish of the Easter costume depends upon correct Gloves. Novelties in suede or lace with new turn-back cuffs, in beaver, mode, beige, gray, champagne, black and white, $3 to $7. Mousquetaires, 8, 12 and 16-button lengths, $4.50 to $8.50.

First Floor, South, State

Dainty Handkerchiefs

Especially charming are the gay little squares of sheer voile or linen in bright colors or novel designs to set off a suit or frock. 50c to $2.50. Attractive gift folders, scented and ribbon-tied, are 25c.

2. Ukelele Teacher, 9 to 4. If you can count you can learn in ten minutes. Bring your own Ukelele if you prefer.

Hair Nets

55c the Dozen
A Special Selling
"America", "Conway"

"AMERICA" Hair Nets, cap style, and "Conway," fringe, very favorably known for their quality, are specially priced in this selling. They are in light, medium and dark brown, blonde, auburn and black, and are fashioned of real hair.

First Floor, North, State

A Special Selling of Spring Fox Scarfs, $57.50

In Cocoa, Platinum and Sand Shades

THE softening effect of a deep-furred Fox Scarf with the tailored suit, and the always becoming fluffiness it adds to the less severe costumes, give it a very important dual role in the Spring wardrobe.

And this selling, coming at the very height of the season, will be of particular interest. The Scarfs are dyed white fox, in cocoa, platinum and sand shades, unusual at $57.50.

Four Sections, Sixth Floor, North, Wabash

New Printed Crepe Scarfs Doubly Fit the Mode

Completing the Easter Costume, Specially Priced, $5.75

GRANTED the necessity of the Scarf if the costume is to be correct, the choice of material is of equal importance. Printed Crepes settle the matter with the authority of their assured position. These Scarfs of brightly printed crepes have, therefore, peculiar appeal. The colors are very originally combined, to be worn with the dark suit or the light frock, and the bands and ends of georgette in solid, harmonizing shades accent the prevailing color note. Specially priced, $5.75.

The Lacy Hat and the Tricorne In Two Distinctive Guises

Black Lace Over Malines for Afternoon

SUCH a model is very flattering in its soft transparency. The Hat shown is of medium size, trimmed on each side with gracefully applied black burnt goose. $25.

Others of sheer summer fabrics and fancy braids, becomingly trimmed, are $10 to $25.

The Modified Tricorne for Tailored Purposes

With the tailored mode an axiom of the season, the only proof required is just such a model as the one sketched—a smartly modified Tricorne. The crown of black fabric is banded and brimmed with crinkled crepe ribbon which also shapes the trig ornament. $25.

Others of satin, crepe or milan, are finished with felt ornaments, moire ribbon, buckles and wings. $10 to 25.

Beginning This Morning, A Most Important Event The Before-Easter Selling of Misses' New Coats

$47.50, $67.50, $87.50, $115, $135

WEEKS of intensive planning, a number of unusually fortunate purchases, have made possible this remarkable selling of new Spring Coats for Misses. The models include types for every taste, suitable for general wear, for the college campus, for sports and for dressier afternoon occasions.

Every one of these Coats was made to our order and fulfills in all particulars of quality and workmanship the high standards of Marshall Field & Company.

Seven Coats Pictured Are Typical of the Many Styles

At $47.50 is sketched a twillbloom with an especially refined trimming of tiny cords and silk floss embroidery. In tan, gray, lentil, navy, moss and cocoa. At $67.50, a charming twill with a collar of sable squirrel; the lining of heavy crepe. Brickdust, mocha, moss, gray, black, navy.

At $135, an exquisitely soft luella fabric with collar and edging of summer squirrel, finished with a very handsome braid. In all of the most attractive new colors.

Misses' Coats, Sixth Floor, Middle, Wabash

MOST of these Coats are trimmed with the fashionable furs of the Spring—summer ermine, sable squirrel, natural squirrel, mink, Chinese weasel and grizette. The materials include twill-cords, twillbloom, charmeen, velvetone, sunshine, juina, luella, vellora in the newest colors.

A vastly increased floor space and many additional salespeople assure airy, well-lighted surroundings in which to choose, as well as prompt and efficient service.

At $87.50, the effective new cape model of twillcord with collar of Chinese weasel, has a fascinating trimming of half-inch twilled ribbon. Another model at $87.50 is of fine charmeen with an edging of sable or natural squirrel. In sepia, moss, brickdust, navy, graystone and black.

At $115, the lovely model of charmeen in black stitched with white, tan with cocoa, navy with cocoa, braided and finished with a collar of summer ermine.

Women's Dresses of Newest Design, a Special Selling Beginning Today, at $25, $35 and $45

THE newest ideas for the Easter season are embodied in this collection of hundreds of beautiful Dresses; notable, too, are the quality of the Silks used, the expert workmanship and finish usually found only in Dresses far higher in price. Exceptional purchases enable us to present such values as these at the very height of the season.

Illustrating But Five of the Attractive Models

At these prices will be found crepe Elizabeth, flowered georgette, printed crepes, fancy roshanaras, combinations of lace and georgette, flat crepe, crepe de chine, in all of the brilliant new colors as well as navy and black.

Women's Moderately Priced Dresses, Sixth Floor, South, Wabash

Among the newer style notes are fine pleatings, delicate laces over slips of flesh or white, unusual beading and embroidery, very short sleeves, sleeves cleverly cuffed, new necklines, and other features of far higher priced gowns.

"Silks from Field's"

Silk and Satin Canton Crepes Are Especially Smart for Easter Gowns

ALL-SILK and satin Canton Crepes are fashionable because of their beautiful lustre and splendid wearing qualities, and in the many new colors for Spring and in black and white they are in great demand for Easter gowns and costume blouses. 40-inch, $2.95 to $7.

Silk and Wool Printed Crepes, $2.95

An exceptional value in these 40-inch silk and wool Printed Crepes which include many beautiful designs.

Silk Section, Second Floor, South, State

Fine Silk Hose for Street Costumes, Remarkable at $2.75

In the Best Liked Colors of the Season

SMOOTH and lustrous, these all silk Hose are of a sheer medium weight most suitably complementing the tailored frock or suit. They are exceedingly well made and will be very satisfactory in appearance and durability. They are ordinarily much higher in price than the very extraordinary figure featured in this selling.

The colors are an additional incentive for purchasing an adequate supply—cinnamon, Sahara, beige, gray, gun metal, brown and variations of these.

Women's Hose, First Floor, North, State

A Distinctive Misses' Suit

With Brown Linen Vestee and Embroidery

THE golden brown embroidered design on the pockets and the trim standing collar, and the smart linen vestee in the same shade are engaging contrasts to the navy charmeen. The coat is a new treatment of the box cut, while the skirt, finely tailored, is wrap style. $75.

Misses' Suits, Sixth Floor, Middle, Wabash

Afternoon Frock of Flat Crepe

Showing the Smart Beltless Tunic

The youthful tucked yoke, the slight sleeves and the tunic, with richly embroidered eyelet treatment, are, when joined with the springlike colors of Patou green, powder blue and oak, a complete unity of charm. $65.

W-G-N 370 METERS

Got a motor car and a year to hit the pike?

Then you would do well to tune in on W-G-N shortly after 9 o'clock to night and hear what J. L. Jenkins, automobile editor of this Tribune, has to say concerning the spring and summer touring situation.

Mr. Jenkins will open up by giving some advice about preparing cars for the gypsy trail, and then he will report on the general condition of roads and tourist attractions throughout the country. This is to be the first of several such talks by Mr. Jenkins.

Knows Circus, Farm, Too.

The feature of W-G-N's farm and garden specialty, which takes the air from the Edgewater Beach station at 7 o'clock, will be John M. Kelley, for twenty years attorney for Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey circus. He's a dairyman at Baraboo, Wis., and one of the leaders of the cooperative dairy marketing movement in his state. Mr. Kelley will talk on "Putting the Romance of the Circus into Farm Life."

DEPOSITIONS IN SMALL SUIT ARE ORDERED OPENED

Springfield, Ill., April 10.—Depositions taken in Kankakee in the "civil suits" against Gov. Small were ordered opened by Judge E. S. Smith in the Sangamon county Circuit court here today. The depositions automatically become part of the record of the attorney general's case against the governor.

A motion will be presented here Monday before Judge Smith by Werner Schroeder and Thomas Masters, counsel for Gov. Small. It was learned to suppress all depositions taken in the hearings in Chicago. Mr. Schroeder announced that he is preparing to file a second motion asking suppression of the depositions taken in Kankakee hearings.

POETESS CHASE EX-MATE OF DANCING "J"

(Picture on back)

Judge Joseph B. Davis, after a long and arduous fight, has secured a divorce for the poetess, who has been married to him for twenty years.

Three months' confinement in the hospital, followed by a long and arduous fight, has secured a divorce for the poetess, who has been married to him for twenty years.

They were married in 1904, and twenty years later Mr. Davis, who was a poet, stated that his wife, who was a poetess, was a divorcee.

Continues Shick's. Charlie begged her to remain, and she consented, off as she was an invalid to "shick" around dance.

"When you've sown your wild oats, you'll settle down and raise a family," but go ahead and fling now.

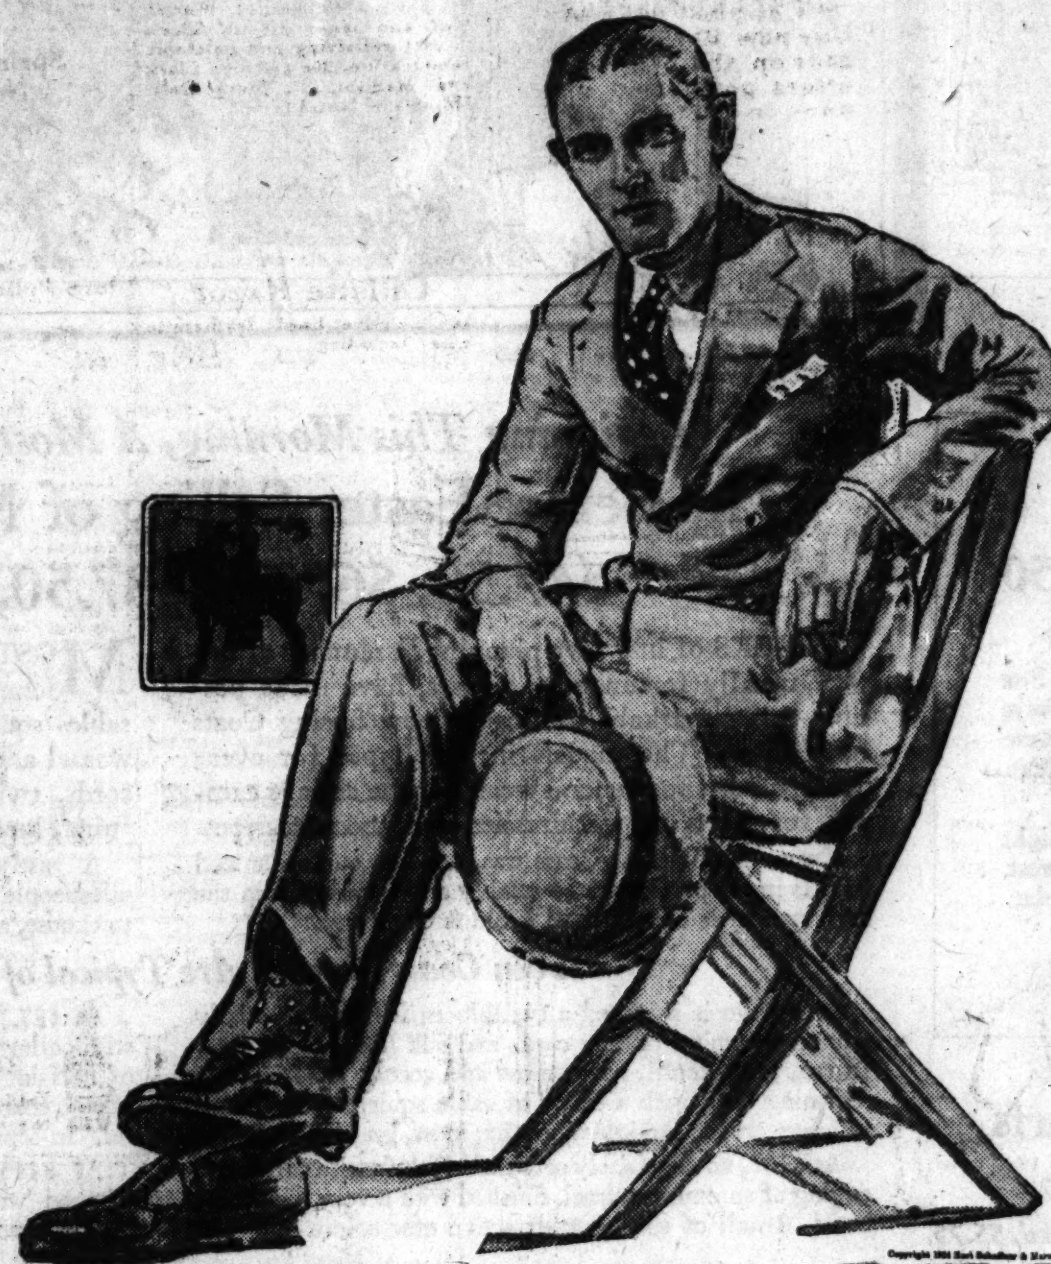

And the "gay young" sixty-something did, she became a dance flapper.

MANY IRRIGATED U. S. LANDS GROW ONLY MORTGAGES

Reclamation Body Offers Remedies to Coolidge.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—A comprehensive overhauling of the government's reclamation program, involving the charging off as a total loss of $27,931,146 of the approximately $150,000,000 invested, and providing measures of relief to thousands of farmers and protection of further federal expenditures on irrigation of the arid wastes of the country, is urged in a unanimous report submitted to Secretary Work today by the special advisory committee on reclamation.

The committee of experts, now disbanded, has been making a study of the reclamation problem for six months, and its report was presented with the recommendation that it be used as a basis for prompt remedial legislation. Members of congress from many western states have made vigorous pleas during the sitting of the committee for aid to the project settlers, and it is probable that President Coolidge, to whom the report was submitted tonight, will have some recommendation to make to congress in the near future.

Where Irrigation Failed. Declaring conditions are serious on many of the twenty-eight projects located in fifteen western states, with three already having failed, the committee stated that of the $143,000,000 already spent in building irrigation works $18,561,146 will never be recovered, with a probable loss of an additional $4,380,000, the whole representing losses in construction to supply water for lands found to be of little or no return value.

The principal recommendation of the committee, of which Dr. Elwood Mead of California, recently named commissioner of the reclamation bureau to carry out the new policies to be approved by congress, was a member, is that repayment of the construction cost be based on the actual crop production of the farm lands rather than the present system of a fixed percentage of the construction cost an acre, which was held to be "inelastic and unsatisfactory."

Repayment Plan Faulty. "After the first few years," the report said respecting the present method, "an annual repayment charge of 6 per cent of the acre cost is made for all projects, yet the acre cost and crop producing power vary greatly among projects. It is idle to assume that lands of equal fertility can bear widely different annual construction payments, or that all lands—good, indifferent, or poor—under a single project can bear the same annual construction payments, yet the existing plan of repayment was based upon that assumption. Neither time nor an arbitrarily fixed per cent of cost is a sound basis for determining annual payments."

As a remedy the committee advocated abolition of the twenty year installment plan now in operation and the substitution of a system whereby repayments shall be based upon the productive power of the lands irrigated without any fixed period when the total investment shall be returned. To relieve the water users of their heavy debts the committee recommended that all unpaid and deferred charges assessed against their farm units be transferred to the construction costs of the projects and that this figure be used in estimating costs to be paid in the future.

Where Losses Occur. The following table shows the actual and probable reductions recommended

Project	Probable loss, Definite loss

Malnutrition

now recognized as the source of most physical ills

What is it? Starvation plus poisoning—and it comes from eating foods that the body cannot transform into the nourishment it needs

Malnutrition is by no means limited to the poor. It takes its toll from those whose tables are loaded with the richest foods as well as from the most destitute. The best-fed and the starving suffer alike from anaemia, constipation, premature old age, bad teeth, every sort of digestive disturbance and that most common of all ailments—acidosis. And all these conditions are traceable to the one source—malnutrition. When you eat food of the wrong kind—food that the body cannot easily and completely utilize, it not only fails to nourish you, but it also forms the acids—the actual poisons—which are the most fertile cause of the greater part of our physical ills.

Food is what you eat. Nourishment is what your body gets out of it, what it can digest

ALMOST one-half of all your nourishment should come from the carbohydrates (a great part of which comes from the grains). Your greatest source of strength and vitality—your power to do work is locked up in them.

But if they are not rightly prepared—if they are not broken down as your body wants them, they may become your chief source of trouble instead of your chief source of power. They must be in a form your body can utilize.

This delicious food gives you nourishment you daily need

Grape-Nuts (made of wheat and malted barley) gives you the carbohydrates in the most easily digested and most nourishing form. More than three-fourths of the content of Grape-Nuts are the precious carbohydrates.

They have been dextrinized, that is, scientifically broken down into the form your body most readily digests and transforms into strength and vitality.

Grape-Nuts gives you nourishment without forming injurious acids—dangerous poisons. No matter how you may have abused your digestion with difficult foods you will find that Grape-Nuts digests easily and quickly.

And Grape-Nuts starts digestion right. It comes in crisp, golden kernels you must chew. This chewing keeps your whole mouth healthy, and starts the proper flow of the salivary and gastric juices—the first step towards sound digestion.

Eat Grape-Nuts at least once a day and see how much better you feel.

There is no other food like Grape-Nuts in form or taste. You will like it and it will do you good.

All grocers have Grape-Nuts. All restaurants serve it in individual packages of a single portion. The Postum Cereal Company, Inc., Battle Creek, Michigan.

"We now know definitely that the regular diet of a large portion of the people of the United States is falling short of maintaining satisfactory nutrition."

—American Home Diet

A hundred and forty-five thousand doctors and forty-eight thousand dentists are interested in what you eat.

Back of these men there are others, biological chemists, who are devoting their lives to find out just what it is you need.

They haven't spoken to you about it. Even your own doctor hasn't mentioned it to you unless you have been ill.

They haven't spoken because they know that except when you are ill you will eat what you want to eat.

Eat "what you want to eat" but see that the food you eat is such that your body can turn it into nourishment.

In Grape-Nuts is nourishment you need, in the form your body can digest.

"A set of healthy teeth is necessary for good digestion and to get all the nourishment out of food."

—Teeth, Diet and Health

Grape-Nuts is in a form which makes you chew. This gives your teeth healthful exercise and makes your mouth do its work, which, if it doesn't do, your stomach must do in addition to its own.

WILBUR TO PERSONAL NAVY OIL

No Contracts
Without Bid

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The government against the navy department, designating Secretary Denby, was a personal approval of the navy.

In a letter to Secretary MeJ., chairman of the committee, Mr. Wilbur "no leases or contracts" by the navy department, personal approval of the navy.

"No further leases will be authorized by the government," unless it is satisfied that such leases are essential to the prevention of oil in the reserves by adjacent thereto, and unless it appears that such leases are authorized by act of congress.

Referring to the Teapot gation now pending, Secretary Denby said he would avoid "any act or proceeding" in any way involve the right of the navy department to avoid any conduct which way interfere with the navy department's operations.

"The question as to whether the navy department or the interior or the oil reserves should be operated in the future is a matter of the reserves," the secretary of the navy department will be the judgment in the future, unless the navy department enacts legislation for such reserves."

Discuss Warship Construction
Secretary Wilbur and Secretary Roosevelt today discussed the house naval committee appropriations to carry out the construction of new warships.

The alteration would be the conversion of the New York, Texas, Florida, Arkansas and Wyoming into a class of aggregate expenditure of $15,000,000.

WILBUR TO KEEP PERSONAL TAB ON NAVY OIL LEASES

No Contracts to Issue Without Bidding.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—A new naval oil policy, designed to safeguard the government against any such leases as those granted under former Secretary Denby, was announced today by Secretary Wilbur.

In a letter to Senator Hale (Rep., Me.), chairman of the senate naval committee, Mr. Wilbur declared that "no leases or contracts will be made" by the navy department without the personal approval of the secretary of the navy.

"No further leases will be made until expressly authorized by congress," he continued, "unless it appears to my satisfaction that such leases are absolutely essential to prevent the draining of oil in the reserves by wells drilled adjacent thereto, and unless it further appears that such leases are fully authorized by act of congress, and in that event such leases will be made only after competitive bidding."

Court to Rule on Teapot. Referring to the Teapot Dome litigation now pending, Secretary Wilbur said he would avoid "in every way any act or proceeding which will in any way involve the rights of the government in such litigation and will avoid any conduct which may in any way interfere with the contentions advanced by the attorneys for the government."

"The question as to whether or not the oil reserves should be managed by the navy department or the department of the interior or the extent to which these departments should cooperate in the further management of the reserves," the letter said, "is involved in the pending litigation and the secretary of the navy and the secretary of the interior will be guided by the judgment in the aforementioned litigation, unless in the meantime congress enacts legislation for the control of such reserves."

Discuss Warship Changes. Secretary Wilbur and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt today discussed with the house naval committee proposed appropriations to carry out major alterations on American warships and the construction of new craft.

The alteration would consist mainly of the conversion of the battleships New York, Texas, Florida, Utah, Arkansas and Wyoming to oil burners at an aggregate expense of $18,218,000.

BRITISH STRIKE MAY STOP HEAT AND LIGHT FOR KING'S PALACES

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] LONDON, April 10.—The House of parliament, the royal palaces, and public buildings are threatened with a stoppage of the supply of heat and light by the refusal of the commissioners of public works to grant a wage increase to cleaners and other employees in government buildings. The furnace stokers and electricians threaten to walk out tomorrow if the cleaners' demands are not granted.

Another outbreak of labor troubles is threatened by the election of A. J. Cook, leader of the radical faction of the South Wales district, as secretary of the National Miners' federation, succeeding Frank Hodges, M. P.

In an interview today Cook declared: "I'm still Red, with all that that means. I take my election as secretary by the miners as an expression of a desire for a militant aggressive policy. As the miners well know, I stand for a real live national and international miners' organization."

Cook was formerly a Baptist preacher. The miners are now demanding a wage increase.

Wiedfeldt to Abandon Diplomacy, Berlin Hears

BERLIN, April 10.—Reports are in circulation here that Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, German ambassador to the United States, will return to Germany in the course of the next few weeks, definitely resigning from the diplomatic service. Official quarters declined today to discuss the subject.

WISE MEN AND CLERGY REVEL IN WILD LIFE

That Is, Forest Birds,
Fish, and Congress.

Why the English sparrow moved to the country, where the wild birds travel to, what congress is doing—and not doing—about fishing and hunting, why the fishing is better in Europe, and what the "people" are doing to our country—these and other matters of Waltonian lore are things which one might have learned yesterday during the first sessions of the Isaac Walton league at the Morrison hotel.

The league opened its convention at 10 o'clock in the morning. There were sessions during the morning and afternoon, and in the evening some 1,500 preachers of Chicago were banqueting while the Rev. John Timothy Blane, Bishop Thomas Nicholson of the Methodist church of Chicago, and others addressed them.

Objects of the League.

President Will H. Dill opened the convention by telling of the three prime objects of the league—the "out of door people of all America." These, he said, are against pollution of the streams, rivers, and coastal waters, indiscriminate drainage, reforestation, and the prevention of forest fires.

He stated that 85 per cent of our waters have been so polluted that no fish can live in them. Prof. Henry B. Ward, head of the department of zoology at the University of Illinois, who spoke during the afternoon session, raised this estimate to "99 or perhaps 95 per cent"—and told the why and how of it.

Favor Refuge Bill.

The league already has declared its support behind Senator Medill McCormack's bill for the establishment of the upper Mississippi national wild life and fish refuge—a stretch of 300 miles along the river, extending from Lake Pepin, Minn., to Rock Island, Ill. Prof. Ward told also of the Willis bill legislation against the pollution of waters and other destruction of the wild life. He said it has twice passed the senate, that it was once allowed to die in the house and that it is back in the moribund in the house again.

Annals Club Adjunct.

Between sessions the hunters and the fishermen gathered in little knots in the halls and corridors, and how many exploits with rod and gun were recounted. It was, "I'll bet that baby weighed all of . . ." And, "Talk about your duck shooting, I'll tell you . . ." And, "Give me a mountain stream and a . . ." And a hundred other significant snapshots of the same.

Then as to the English sparrow, Prof. Ward was talking it over with William I. Lyon, department of agriculture bird warden and secretary of the Inland Bird Banding association. Mr. Lyon is from 311-Sheridan road, Waukegan, where he has five acres—and orchard and some nice fields up on the bluff, if you know where that is.

"He's an imported pest, that's what he is," Mr. Lyon was saying about the English sparrow. "They imported him to eat smooth worms—caterpillars—and when the smooth ones were all gone he refused to eat any more. Then he went to the city to live, and now he's been driven back into the country."

Coastal Waters Polluted.

Dr. Ward told of the vast pollution, most of it commercial, of coastal waters, streams and rivers. Because of it, he said, the fishing in sparsely settled sections of this country is not as good as it is in thickly settled sections of Europe, where such things are under control.

President Dill said there were 62,000 forest fires in 1923; and that 11,000,000 acres of land was drained, less than one-third of which made "even indifferent farm land."

"BEAU BRUMMEL" SURRENDERS SELF IN LIQUOR CASE

Flyer Pinkinson Digs Up Big Cash Bail.

P. David Pinkinson, sought by federal officials for a month on charges that he is the "airline bootlegger" responsible for much of the fine booze brought into Chicago from Cuba via airplane, yesterday surrendered at the federal building.

Sartorially elegant, P. David strolled into the court of United States Commissioner Henry C. Beller late in the afternoon, and while the commissioner gazed at a fortune in diamonds worn by the erstwhile fugitive, revealed his identity and inquired what his bond would be.

Upon being advised that he would have to deposit a cash bond of $7,500 before gaining his liberty, Pinkinson pulled a monogrammed wallet from his top coat and counted off the required sum in Liberty bonds.

"It's what the underworld calls a 'bum rap,'" Mr. Pinkinson explained. "Of course I own an airplane, but if there ever has been any booze in it, it belonged to some of the guests that I have taken up on occasion."

"Well, we had planned to go to the Dempsey-Firpo fight last fall and it struck my friend that it would be a capital idea for me to buy a plane so we could fly down to the affair."

"Since that time my friend and I, together with certain of our acquaintances, have had many exhilarating jarks in the clouds. But never, never, have I dreamed of using the plane to fly booze."

Robbers Use Neckties to Bind Man and Wife

Simon Kublin and his 50 year old wife were bound with neckties and towels last night by two armed robbers, who entered their grocery store at 2908 South La Salle street, and searched the place for forty minutes. They got $103 hidden in the icebox.

FIREMAN SAVES COP'S LIFE AND NABS GUNMAN

Sudden action by fireman William J. McMahon, who witnessed a gun battle from the window of engine company No. 16's quarters, saved the life yesterday of Richard Britten, colored detective from the bureau.

Britten had emerged from a drug store at 31st and State streets to observe two suspected colored men loafing across the street. Without waiting for his partner, David "Big Six" Smith, he set out to investigate. After Britten had followed them for almost a block the two men whirled about and opened fire. Britten fell with a bullet in his thigh.

At this moment McMahon rushed to his assistance just as a Negro with a smoking automatic was advancing toward the prostrate detective. He snatched up one of Britten's revolvers and captured Robert Puryear of 4854 Campbell avenue, who had been shot through the abdomen by the fallen policeman. His companion escaped.

Colors include:

Poudre bleu, gray, tan, tile, artichoke green, cocoa, brick-dust, navy and black.

Youthful grace and modish simplicity lend striking individuality to the frocks comprising this assortment. The cleverest versions of the slender silhouette are emphasized in each instance, and deft touches of lace, beading, tucking, embroidery, pleating or contrasting color form quaint ornamentation.

Lustrous draped fabrics and rich spring-time colorings are additional noteworthy features of these ultra-smart frocks at this most remarkably low price.

Thirty Cents a Day Will Bring You $1,000

By saving only thirty cents a day you will receive at the end of ten years over $1,000, and in the meantime your life will be insured for $1,000 under our Savings and Life Insurance Plan.

Suppose you are 30 years old. You open a Savings and Life Insurance account with a deposit of $8.70, which represents saving less than thirty cents a day for one month. You deposit $8.70 each month for 120 months, when you will receive over $1,000 in cash. If you do not live to complete your deposits, the insurance company agrees to pay your beneficiary $1,000 and the Bank will pay the balance in the savings account. At the end of the eighth year, for example, the total amount received by your beneficiary in case of death would be over $1,690.

Should you be totally and permanently disabled, the insurance company agrees to pay you $10.00 a month for the rest of your life; you would not have to make any more deposits, and when you die your heirs would receive the full face amount of your policy just the same. The rates vary according to your age, and you may save any amount from $1,000 to $25,000 by depositing a proportionately larger amount monthly.

Provision Under Simmons Plan.

Under the Simmons plan taxpayers with incomes below $50,000 would pay less taxes than under the Mellon plan. Those between $50,000 and $75,000 would pay about the same. Those up to $100,000 would pay a little more than under the Mellon plan and those above $100,000 would pay considerably more. The Democratic plan is so framed as to attract votes of Republicans who favor surtax rates higher than those of the Mellon plan. If the votes of Republicans favoring a compromise similar to the Longworth plan can be ob-

What Married Men Must Pay

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The following table shows the total amount of tax, including both normal and surtaxes, which a married man with no dependents would have to pay under the various schedules:

tained in support of the Simmons amendments the Democrats can claim the credit.

Under the Simmons surtax schedule a rate of 1 per cent applies on income between $10,000 and $14,000 instead of between $10,000 and $12,000 as in the Mellon plan.

What Simmons Plan Does.
The Simmons plan then adds 1 per cent for each additional $2,000 of income up to $38,000. Another 1 per cent is added for the $4,000 between $38,000 and $42,000. One per cent then is added for each $2,000 up to $52,000.

From that point there are intervals of either $2,000 or $4,000 for each 1 per cent added until 35 per cent is reached between $96,000 and $100,000. A rate of 37 per cent applies between $100,000 and $200,000. 38 per cent between $200,000 and $300,000, 39 per cent between $300,000 and $500,000, and 40 per cent above $500,000. Senator Simmons later will offer amendments dealing with estate taxes and other features of the tax bill.

BACK MELLON PLAN

Actuated by the expressed approval of hundreds of manufacturers throughout the state, a committee of the Illinois Manufacturers' association will leave for Washington within the next ten days to work for the adoption of the Mellon tax plan.

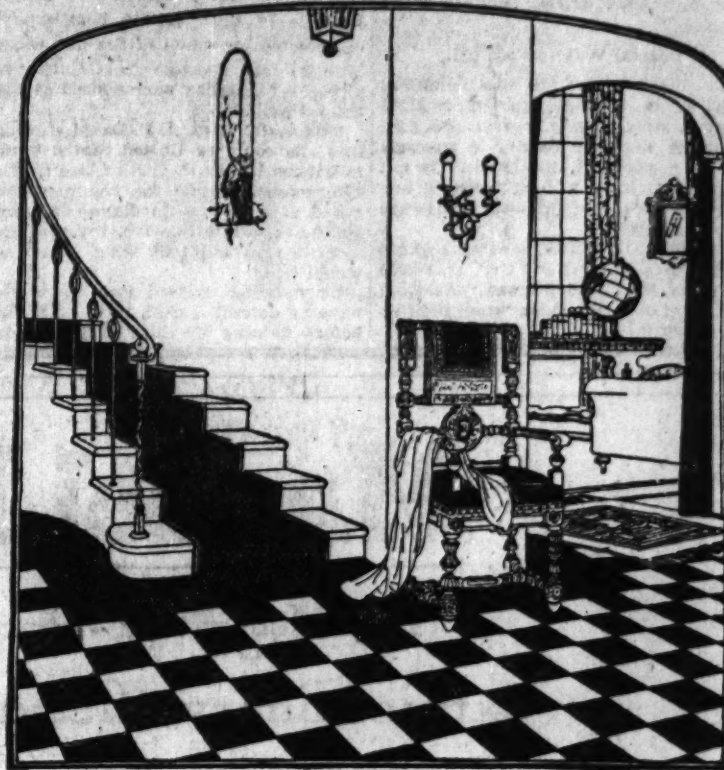

Samuel Hastings, head of the Dayton Scale company, who is chairman of the federal tax committee of the association, will perhaps head the delegation. A tentative personnel of the committee includes E. C. Haldrich Jr., of Peoria, president of the association, and John M. Glenn, its secretary.

An enormous bundle of letters from practically every big business head in the state urging passage of the Mellon measure will be taken to Washington by the committee.

Floors of Color—Floors of Charm

IN any plan of decoration, floors simply refuse to be ignored. So when you start to decorate a room, you must begin with the floor. If you don't, you will end up with the floor on your hands—and no idea what to do about it.

Haven't you seen rooms where the yellow wood floors simply spoiled the color scheme? Here is where the new linoleum is so helpful. There are so many colors and designs to choose from, that you can build your color scheme, as you should, from the floor itself, and thus make sure that your room will be a harmonious unit—floor, walls, furnishings, and all!

Linoleum permanently cemented in place is practically waterproof, and always smooth and tight.

Laying linoleum for permanency.
A good inlaid linoleum, cemented in place over a lining of builders' deadening felt, makes a permanent floor. It never requires refinishing, and needs only an occasional waxing and polishing to keep it growing better and better looking with the passing years.

Not only does the floor of Armstrong's Linoleum solve a problem in home decoration. It lightens housekeeping. Any woman who has had any experience with a waxed and polished linoleum floor knows how easy it is to keep clean. Scrubbing is unnecessary. Dust and dirt brush right up. Floors of linoleum are quiet and restful to walk on. You place your rugs on linoleum, just as you do on any other floor.

Ask your merchant

Good furniture and department stores recommend Armstrong's Linoleum and will gladly show you the modern designs and colorings to harmonize with your walls, rugs, furniture, and draperies. Many of these stores make a specialty of good linoleum laying.

You may write to our Bureau of Interior Decoration for special advice, and receive a reply from an experienced decorator who will help you plan color schemes for an entire house or a particular room. This service is entirely free.

Write for free sample and booklet

Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum and a copy of our 24-page booklet, "New Floors for Old." The booklet contains a score of colorplates of Armstrong's Linoleum, showing Jaspes, tile inlaid, marble tile and printed patterns, readily obtainable at most good stores; also information on laying linoleum and on how to care for your linoleum floors, together with names of merchants in your city who handle Armstrong's Linoleum.

A SCHOOL THAT NEEDS A ROOF

This is a story of a success. A story of a school that fills such a vital need in Chicago that it has outgrown its present home—The School of Commerce of Northwestern University

IT began fifteen years ago. The idea was right: university training for executives and prospective executives. It brought together the experiences of hundreds of successful firms and gave each individual a shorter cut than provided in the old school of hard knocks.

The foremost business men of Chicago knew it was right, too, and sixty of them became the original guarantors.

Self-supporting from the start

The school was an immediate success. Through the energy and devotion of the faculty and contributions from the students in the form of tuition fees, it has been self-supporting, and has operated without endowment. It seeks now only an appropriate building for its work.

Not enough room

The school opened with 255 students. The enrollment today is over 4,000, and hundreds have to be turned away. There is not room in the present quarters to begin to take care of these men and women who crave a business education of university grade. A building adequate to meet the needs must be provided.

Direct service to Chicago business

The 15,000 men and women who have gone out of the School of Commerce have made real contributions to business. Every important industry in Chicago is represented in the student body. Here are some of the Chicago firms which have had 30 or more individuals trained in this School:

Other services

In addition to serving its large student body, the School of Commerce maintains certain other important services for the benefit of the business community—but without cost to it. Among these are its Bureau of Business Research, the Employment and Placement Bureau, the Personnel Department and the Commerce Library. All of the above services are widely and freely used by the business firms of Chicago.

The last step in a notable project

The McKinlock Campus, corner of Lake Shore Drive and Chicago Avenue, valued conservatively at $4,000,000, is already owned by the University. The funds for the Montgomery Ward Memorial, to house the Medical and Dental Schools, and the Levy Mayer Hall of Law, are already in hand.

This group, when completed, will provide for 12,000 to 15,000 students, and will represent, ultimately, an investment of $25,000,000.

The School of Commerce Building is to be built entirely by popular subscription. Chicago business men, public-spirited citizens, firms and corporations which have profited through the service offered by the School, and owners of property in the North Central District are invited to participate. The completion of this Fund will constitute the final step necessary to insure the consummation of this entire project, which will constitute one of the outstanding architectural, cultural and educational achievements of America.

Opportunity for memorials

This Building offers an opportunity for impressive memorials—enduring, inspiring, visible and useful. Such memorials, in the form of lecture halls, laboratories, etc., constitute an everlasting testimony to the philanthropic spirit of the donors, and will serve as a perpetual reminder of some deed or cause or person.

An investment for all time

The modern business man does not "give alms" but prefers to make an investment in public service. He has been trained to invest heavily where the principal is safe, the management sound and the return satisfactory.

Northwestern's record, since 1851, gives assurance that all gifts will be zealously conserved, wisely invested and carefully managed.

No use of wealth can be more helpful to the human race, nor be more lasting in its efforts, than gifts for educational purposes.

Every dollar invested in the School of Commerce Building will prove a gift to civilization forever.

Now Is the Time.

There is only one time to send in contributions to the Washington portrait fund. That time is now!

It has come to the attention of Paul Schulse, head of the mayor's committee of seventy-five for the purchase of the picture, that many persons are contemplating subscribing, but have put the matter off. These are urged to send in immediately whatever amount they intend to give.

As the fund now stands about $47,000 is needed to make up the purchase price of $75,000 for the picture. Dollar Day, April 22, is counted on to furnish this needed difference. There should certainly be in Chicago 47,000 persons interested enough in art and Americanism to contribute $1 apiece.

But before Dollar Day comes around, it is the desire of the committee that all pledges, all contemplated gifts, be sent in, in order that the books may be brought up to date, and the exact amount of the deficit determined. The committee is anxious for a definite mark, in dollars needed, to shoot at on Dollar Day.

Booths in Big Stores.

It was definitely promised yesterday by Mandel Brothers, Marshall Field & Co., and Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. that booths may be established in these three stores for the sale of reproductions of the picture and of Dollar Day certificates. The three firms have promised space for three days—April 18, 19, and 21—the last the day before Dollar Day.

The booths will be managed by delegations from women's clubs, under the supervision of Mrs. Alphon L. Hoeburg, assistant chairman of the mayor's committee, who has already established a booth in the Fair store. This last booth was in charge yesterday of Mrs. Jacob Topp, Mrs. W. L. Lenz, and Mrs. E. P. Raubacher of the Women's club of the Chicago Retail Druggists' association. It will be run today by Mrs. Henry Osker and a committee from the Prairie State club.

LOOK TO FUTURE, NOT AT CLOCK; J. B. FORGAN SAYS

72d Birthday Finds
Him at Desk.

BY O. A. MATHER.

James B. Forgan, dean of Chicago bankers and one of America's authorities on finance, is celebrating his seventy-second birthday today.

But it will not be an idle day, for although he has passed the "harrowed time" milestone, the veteran banker is far from being on the retired list.

Mr. Forgan will spend his regular hours at his desk. So there need be no doubt among his associates that he still holds a firm grip on the helm of the two big banks of which he is chairman—the First National and the First Trust and Savings.

It was suggested to Mr. Forgan yesterday that a few reminiscences and a bit of advice to the younger generation might be in order—and his answer was characteristic.

"He's Busy Looking Forward."

"Ha, that was a suspicious suggestion," he said—and a bit of the Scotch burr crept in. "When a man begins to dwell in the past, it's a pretty sure sign he's on the retired list. I'm feeling too well and there is too much in the present and the future to occupy me. Retire? Well, perhaps in a few years—if my health should fail."

"Advice for the younger generation?"

"I am sorry to say that I believe the tendency to 'watch the clock' to get through with the job in hand and get home—is growing in the business world. And just so far as this attitude prevails, the number of successful men is bound to be limited."

Mr. Forgan was born on April 11, 1852, at St. Andrews, Scotland. He began his banking career at the age of 17, and early in his twenties emigrated to Canada as representative of a London bank. In 1884 he went to Minneapolis, and for eight years occupied two banking positions.

Brought to City By Gage.

In 1892 Mr. Forgan came to Chicago as vice president of the First National bank, at the invitation of Lyman J. Gage, then president. When Mr. Gage became secretary of the treasury in 1897, Mr. Forgan was in line to succeed to the presidency, but a serious illness necessitated an interregnum.

But in 1899 Mr. Forgan had recovered his health and then became president. Several years ago he became chairman of the board of directors.

At the first sneeze, begin spraying the nose and throat with Zonite twice daily. It will help materially to destroy the seat of the trouble—usually germ infections somewhere in the nasal cavity.

Zonite is the form of antiseptic which practically wiped infection out of the hospitals in France during the World War. Thanks to American genius, it is now available for use in every home. Your druggist carries it.

P. Raubacher of the Women's club of the Chicago Retail Druggists' association. It will be run today by Mrs. Henry Osker and a committee from the Prairie State club.

Booths in Big Stores.

It was definitely promised yesterday by Mandel Brothers, Marshall Field & Co., and Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. that booths may be established in these three stores for the sale of reproductions of the picture and of Dollar Day certificates. The three firms have promised space for three days—April 18, 19, and 21—the last the day before Dollar Day.

The booths will be managed by delegations from women's clubs, under the supervision of Mrs. Alphon L. Hoeburg, assistant chairman of the mayor's committee, who has already established a booth in the Fair store. This last booth was in charge yesterday of Mrs. Jacob Topp, Mrs. W. L. Lenz, and Mrs. E. P. Raubacher of the Women's club of the Chicago Retail Druggists' association. It will be run today by Mrs. Henry Osker and a committee from the Prairie State club.

CONSTIPATION— CONQUER IT BEFORE IT CONQUERS YOU

This new and better mineral oil is guaranteed to break the constipation habit in 5 days—your money back.

Sparkling eyes, ruddy cheeks, buoyant vitality usually mark the man or woman who is free from modern civilization's greatest curse. If you are suffering from indigestion, gas, sour stomach, headaches or any of the other ills that follow constipation, you'll be glad to know that relief is now at hand.

You can break this habit in 5 days with McKenzie's—the new and better mineral oil. It is not only a pure petroleum, iodinated to combat the germs and poisons that lurk in the intestinal tract. It is the only mineral oil that combines this antiseptic feature with natural, life-giving qualities.

If you are tired of going through life in "low gear"—if you want the vim and pep that healthy folks enjoy, make this habit in 5 days—your money back.

8 JURORS SWORN TO TRY BOY ON MURDER CHARGE

Eight jurors were sworn in yesterday to try Alan McCarthy, 20 year old son of Attorney Jay J. McCarthy, on charges of murdering his chum, Roland McCarthy, in a poolroom on the north side several months ago.

Assistant State's Attorney Milton David Smith and Bert A. Cronson were forced to excuse more than two dozen foremen when they expressed a prejudice against the death penalty, which the prosecutors announced they expect to demand. The case was put over until Monday after the venire was exhausted.

Prosecutors Smith and Cronson expressed themselves confident that they would be able to convict the boy.

BYLLESBY FIRM ANSWERS SUITS; DENIES CHARGES

Suits for more than $1,000,000 filed against H. M. Byllesby & Co., La Salle street engineering and investment house, and twelve individuals by Fred E. Hummel, receiver for the bankrupt mail order firm of Leonard Morton & Co., were declared to be without foundation yesterday by Arthur S. Huey, vice president of the Byllesby company.

In a formal statement Mr. Huey declared that the suits are an attempt to obtain payment of claims incurred by the Morton concern after the Byllesby company had ceased to be connected with the mail order house.

"These suits evidently are an attempt to force the payment of certain claims of the creditors of Leonard Morton & Co., incurred after Byllesby & Co. had severed its connection with that company, for which we are not responsible and which our attorneys advise us are without merit," the statement said.

Previous connection of Byllesby & Co. with Leonard Morton & Co. will stand the most complete investigation without discredit to our organization. Byllesby & Co. voluntarily reimbursed in full all investors who purchased stock of Leonard Morton & Co. through them.

Ready For a Tenant?

Are you ready to rent that spare room? Will you accept a few dollars extra each week in rent? Then you need a Want Ad to bring prospects to you.

Because of their result-producing power, because they are read by more people than read other Want Ads, because they are the quickest way to find prospects—you should use Tribune Want Ads.

Mrs. M. J. Sarley, 5236 Washington Blvd., knows Tribune results. She used this Want Ad March 23:

WASHINGTON BLVD. 5236—TO RENT—L.G. size, 100 sq. ft., suit 1 or 2 bds.; 2 in bath; 1. bath, surf. Columbus 4745.

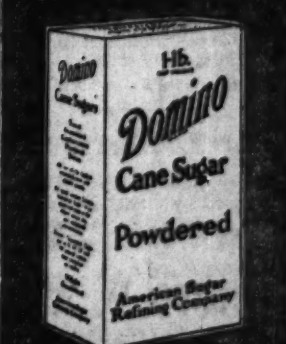

"Forty people answered my Want Ad," she said, "and I rented it the first day without any difficulty. The Tribune is the only paper for Want Ads as well as for reading."

The Tribune's booklet, "Wording a Want Ad to Make It Pay," will help you to write Want Ads well. You may have it free by calling for it, or your request may be made by mail. Get it, write a good Want Ad, and bring it to

The tragic significance of age 31

The average Health Span reaches only from age 18 to age 31, according to the United States Life Tables, 1920

PHYSICAL freedom and full vigor—what are they worth to you? This is a question the average American can answer from his own bitter experience—for at age 31 the average American begins to slip. After 40 his earning power drops off rapidly. He is an old man before his time. These appalling facts are shown by the United States Life Tables, 1920.

Age 31! The age at which men and women should be entering their period of greatest usefulness and happiness! The beginning of the supposed "prime of life."

Not the prime of life. The age of decay! What causes contribute to this fearful condition? Unwise eating. Sleeplessness. The continual loading of the body with drug stimulants, which appear to give added energy, but actually borrow this energy from the body's own reserve.

Every school child is taught to avoid stimulants. Most mothers enforce the no-coffee rule for children. Then comes maturity—and the squandering of the reserve strength which has been stored up. Figures show that the average American is able to stand the pace for just 13 years. Then, with half his life yet before him, he hits the down grade.

Medical literature classifies caffeine as a poison. Like strychnin, it is sometimes given in cases of heart failure. The average cup of coffee contains the usual dose of caffeine administered by physicians in these cases. If the American people were forced to undergo a process of slow poisoning, their outraged cry would shake the heavens.

Convenience and economy! Your grocer sells Postum in two forms. Instant Postum, made in the cup by adding boiling water, is the easiest drink in the world to prepare. Postum Cereal (the kind you buy) is also easy to make, but should be boiled 30 minutes. Either form costs less than most other hot drinks.

LEITER ORDERED TOPAY FOR SOCKS BOUGHT IN 1922

Joseph Leiter's socks—there were 111 pairs of them at $12 a pair—finally had their day in court yesterday. After the millionaire capitalist had condemned them as being their color on being washed, and after Peck & Peck's history experts said they were "cheap at the price," Judge Edgar A. Jonas in Municipal court decided the price was right and ordered Leiter to pay $1,332 for them.

To begin with Leiter insisted he never had ordered the socks, and that he was most surprised, after wearing twenty-three pairs, to receive a gentle hint from the Michigan avenue haberdashery firm that they wished the money.

Refuse to Take Them Back.
So he sent his valet, Jean Gerard, post haste back to Peck & Peck with the socks. But Peck & Peck could not take them back, after Leiter had ordered them especially, and a commission for their manufacture had been arranged with a London maker, counsel for the haberdashers argued.

So Leiter decided to keep the socks and let Peck & Peck try to collect the $1,332.

Suit Two Years Old.
That was two years ago, and the suit has been pending that long. "It doesn't seem reasonable," the judge declared, "that when Leiter, as he says, changed socks twice daily, he didn't realize that he was wearing such hose."

Leiter's attorney, A. M. Rogers, said an appeal might be taken.

Our Prescription for Ragged Nerves

BY DORIS BLAKE

It is not the big troubles of life that make for domestic inharmonies. Failure, sickness, business reverses, or great misfortunes more often than not reveal the finer metal in human beings.

It is the little irritants that make trouble in the home—the petty annoyances that prove what irritable, nervous, crotchety beings we can be in the presence of the only persons in the world before whom we would dare to "blow off" on so slight provocation.

It must be said in all fairness that the real reasons for many misunderstandings are reasons inherent in life itself.

There is the husband, whose nerves are on the ragged edge because his employer happens to be of a disposition to keep him in constant terror by his bristling and domineering ways.

There is the wife who has to put up with many things in the course of her day's work. The huckster who sells her vegetables gives a bunch of celery which is three weeks old and cannot be used. Perhaps she thought she heard the baby crying when he slipped it to her. The butcher may be anxious to palm off on her a pound of the worst meat.

If she says something about it, not being good, he may try to humiliate her before other shoppers. I witnessed just such a scene not long ago. Perhaps in the course of the day she suffers three or four petty annoyances which outrange her at the time and help to sour her disposition. When the husband comes home she is often like a school child who, having been kept in iron discipline by his teacher, runs out into the streets and punches the head of the first small boy he can find. The man is the same way.

If the woman could transplant herself for a day in the office and see what petty humiliations her husband has to suffer, and the man go through the process of a day's cooking with provisions bought from a half dozen people, each of whom is trying to sell him not what he needs so much as what he has to sell, life might be made much more tolerable.

This remedy is not being possible, the next best thing is to apply it mentally. Without any too great strain on the imagination, the woman could think herself into the man's daily routine, the man into hers, to have the same grouch brought home or one awaiting him when he gets there, let them blame it on the general strain of living and not on the harassed mate. The thousands of little things that may happen in a day are more to blame than the human dispositions. Try to remember that when a careless word drops from the lips of husband or wife. You might try asking: "What happened today, honey?" and see if that doesn't clear the air.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

His Greatest Fault.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am keeping steady company with a young man whom I love dearly, and whose faults I try not to see.

"You will probably think this the most silly thing you have ever read. The man thinks candy, flowers, or anything that expresses sentiment foolish. It isn't because he hasn't the money. He has plenty of that and is as tight as a drum. I really don't know what to think of him.

"I wish you would give me your opinion on this. I certainly want to do the right thing. I would never let a little thing like that come between our love; nor would I let him know how it hurts me.

"Would you be kind enough to print this, with your answer on the subject of foolishness, which includes the above mentioned things, as well as engagement, rings, and even thinking the same about, although he wants me to accept one now. MARLENE."

Yours probably would prove a debatable problem at a woman's gathering. One side would assume it the inalienable right of sweethearts to expect remembrances on every occasion and the other half would be resigned to the fact that the sentimental Lohengrins are diminishing daily, and take them at their value without the sentimental touches. And there you are! It looks like a problem of just how resigned you can be and whether you are willing to take them as is with a faith in the powers that be to train them later to ways of sentimental remembrances, or whether you are going to be content with nothing less than being told it by flowers on every wretched occasion.

ANSWER TO WHAT'S WRONG HERE

When you have a guest for the night, see that her bed is turned down ready for occupancy before she goes to her room.

Just a Touch of Ice-Mint. Presto!

Corns Wither and Lift Off with Fingers. No Pain.

Corn sufferers gather around: get right up close and listen, hear's good news for you.

The real genuine "Corn Killer" is here at last. No more corns, no more pain, no more misery. The new discovery, made from a Japanese product, is said to surely and quickly and all foot misery. Think of it: only a touch of two of that cooling, soothing, and pain-killing foot jelly in your corns. No pain, no bit of soreness, either when applying it or afterwards, and it doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

It just makes a corn feel cool, swelling, itching, burning feet glow with cooling comfort.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses (just shrub up and lift off so easy. It's wonderful.

Every foot sufferer can appreciate a treatment like this, especially women who wear high heel shoes and men who are obliged to stand on their feet all day.

Try it. Just ask any drug store for a few cents' worth of ice-mint and learn for yourself what solid foot comfort means. There is nothing better.

Gnocchi.

Of all the inexpensive dishes for a meatless meal I would especially recommend gnocchi in a cheese sauce. You can also combine gnocchi with an elaborate mushroom sauce, if you want to mystify your friends.

There are numerous ways of making gnocchi, and as long as I tried to follow the Italian dish I could not get a dish that anywhere nearly equalled the gnocchi I had had in Europe, but when I discovered a simple little way of my own, and called it, mush in cheese sauce, I thought I had arrived. The Italians make a most interesting potato gnocchi on the dumpling order, but it is likely to seem soggy to the taste untrained in Italian cookery. The French make a gnocchi of the choux paste, such as cream puffs and eclairs are made of, but the simple, inexpensive cornmeal mush seems to me quite fine enough for anybody.

Put one-half cup of cornmeal and a teaspoon of salt in top of a double boiler, adding a bit of flour, if you wish, and two cups of water. Be sure not to make them generous. Set over water and cook about an hour, or a half hour will do, without any stirring, until you are ready to take it out to pour into a small bread tin

When it is cold cut the loaf of mush into blocks, and put a layer of it into a buttered baking dish. Over this put a layer of white sauce and grated cheese, and repeat. Bake in a rather hot oven until it puffs. You may cook the cheese—one-half cup to a half hour will do, without any stirring, until you are ready to take it out to pour into a small bread tin

Sale, Lecture, and Tea Give to Society One Crowded Day

Society had a busy day yesterday with an Easter sale of Eli Bates lineas at the residence of Edward T. Blair, a lecture for the benefit of the Music School of Olivet Institute in the afternoon at the residence of Mrs. George Hallock Taylor of 89 East Division street for the lecturer, Sir Paul Dukas. In addition to the beautiful lineas which the Italian women at the Eli Bates settlement make, fascinating Easter toys and vases, quaint hooked rugs, and the latest and most sumptuous of bedspreads were sold at Mr. Blair's by a group of young society women under the direction of Mrs. William McCormick Blair.

About $4,000 was made for the Music School of Olivet Institute by the lecture given by Sir Paul Dukas on "The Russian Music Before and After the Revolution." Sir Paul illustrated his talk with piano selections and also played photograph records of speeches made by Lenin and Trotsky during the war, the first entitled "What Is the Soviet Government?" and the second a message from the Third International to the Red Army. Since both speeches were in Russian and few in the fashionable audience understood that language, but it was interesting to hear the voices of the two men. An act of sentiment which touched the hearts of those who noticed it was the standing of Col. Michel Laseur during the playing by Sir Paul of the old Russian national hymn and his quick return to his seat when the pianist played the official bolshevik government anthem. Col. Laseur, a member of the old Russian nobility, came to Chicago about a year ago as secretary to Harold F. McCormick and has become popular in society. He was the guest yesterday, with Mme. Antonin Barthelemy, wife of the French consul, of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Evans.

After the lecture the patronesses and those who had worked on the various committees for the benefit met Sir Paul at tea at Mrs. Taylor's, whose house guest he was, and who was general chairman of the affair.

A necessarily small but enthusiastic group attended the first presentation of Oren B. Taft Jr.'s two act comedy, "Legally Dead," given at the Anna Morgan studios last evening for the benefit of the Art Institute fund. The cast was composed of E. H. Parnore, Miss Margaret Soper, George Francis Wolf, Shelley Nelson, John P. Phelan Jr., Miss Bernice Thompson, Miss Dolores Morris, and Miss Kibekah Kennett. Miss Lillian Fitch was the director.

Portraits by Francis Brugiere of the members of the Moscow Art theater will be exhibited at the tea to be given for this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock by Miss Grace Hickox and Helene Volkoff in the Hickox studios. Those who will receive and also assist at the tea table are Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, Mrs. Edward S. Beck, Mrs. Clarence Hough, Mrs. Joseph B. Long, Mrs. Antonin Barthelemy, Mrs. Thomas M. Boyd, and Mrs. Erich Gerstenberg.

The Alice H. Wood Infant Welfare station, formerly the Ogden Street station, but named recently for the late Mrs. Ira Couch Wood, who was active in work for its support, will be the beneficiary of a card and mah jong party to be given by the Port Washington's City club, of which Mrs. William Westerland is chairman, on April 22 at the Belvidere hotel.

Mrs. David Adler of 1240 North State street has returned from a visit to Saratoga, Fla., where she was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edson Keith. Mr. and Mrs. Adler will move out to their place at Libertyville in about two weeks.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Edward Sauer of 1415 North State street plan to sail on July 30 for Europe. Dr. Sauer to be gone for two months and Mrs. Sauer to remain abroad for a month and a half longer.

Mrs. Benjamin F. Ayer of the Ambassador has returned from a six weeks' stay at Winter Park, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy M. Gaddard of 1415 State parkway have returned from California.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. McIlvaine of 112 Bellevue place are expected to return from Chandler, Ariz., the latter part of the week.

Princess Michel Cantacuzene of 11 Stott street has departed for Boston to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pelham Curtis, for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic W. Upham of 64 Lake Shore drive have postponed

Coolidge Urges Training Camps as Aide to Peace

The citizens' military training camps are essentially schools of citizenship, President Coolidge says in a statement to the Military Training Camps association, made public by that organization. The statement follows:

"The White House, Washington, D. C.—The young men of America have always shown patriotic devotion to their country in time of stress. They have an opportunity today of preparation for service in time of peace. "The government has established the citizens' military training camps, which are essentially schools of citizenship. They are conducted by the war department, which alone has personnel sufficient to give the various types of training offered in them. "These camps are an essential in the plan of national security. They promote obedience to law and respect for the institutions of a well ordered society. Young men are helped to physical health, mental vigor, and moral excellence. Social understanding and democratic feeling are developed, loyalty and reverence for the flag are the natural outcome of training. Courtesy in act, sympathy in feeling, tolerance in thought are the ideals. "Recognizing the great good which comes to government and to people from the citizens' military training camps, I hope that each year an increasing number of young men may take advantage of the opportunity which is afforded them."

"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

Cream Lace Relieves the Long, Tight Sleeve

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—To arms, crime fashion! This spring, and proceeds straightaway to do something about sleeves. The result is that sleeve variations are almost as numerous as neck variations, and that many a frock of today depends for its individuality almost entirely upon these two points of interest. One of the chief concerns of designers has been to soften the effect of the long, tight fitting sleeve. Sometimes they invoke the aid of a row of buttons placed in a row from wrist to elbow. At other times they introduce a fall of lace or a cascade of fringe. Piquant little plaited sleeves which, instead of terminating the sleeve, are placed several inches above the hem, are another new touch and often carry out the suggestion of a plaited blouse on the skirt. Sometimes a mannish cuff of white plique or linen, square in shape, fastened with links and bringing a suggestion of the Directoire period, is the expedient of the tailored frock.

Aside from such pranks played on the tight sleeve, there are many other new suggestions. A peasant type of accessory, which is quite full between wrist and elbow, is placed by some of the dressmakers, notably Paquin. Then, of course, there is the cape sleeve and the wide sleeve and the one terminating in a rather full flounce dropped from elbow to wrist. In this charming black faille frock cream lace is introduced as the salient relief of long tight sleeves. This lace is repeated at the neck line and it forms the starting point for a row of black satin buttons. But the most unusual touch here comes from black silk floss couched on both skirt and scarf ends and giving the effect of the popular fringe.

Madison Presbyterian Votes Against War

Beloit, Wis., April 10.—[Special.]—By a vote of 20 to 13 Presbyterians of the Madison Presbyterian in session here today adopted an overture opposed to war similar to the one adopted by the Chicago presbytery.

Dr. George Hunt, pastor of the Christ Presbyterian church, Madison, Wis., took a definite stand against war. His address was declared to have affected materially the vote for adoption of the overture.

"I hang my head in shame," he declared, "when I think of some of the things our ministers did during the last war. At Madison I heard a minister stand on the steps of the Capitol building and tell a lot of war lies in order to stir up people to hate and fight each other."

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALLICO.

Box Ties for Every Day.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—At least a quarter of the male population of the United States slides off from the bow tie, because it does not know how to tie one of the silly things, and Aunt Martha or Cousin Emory isn't always handy to do her stuff when required.

Those who have mastered the art of tying a presentable bow, without taking all morning or night to do it, are apt to be a little indiscriminate about the when, how, and where the little flogger should and should not be worn.

While there is no set rule of style or fashion about the matter, it is a fact that the bow tie does not go well with the average stiff turnover collar. One sees frequently on the streets and in business offices men wearing stiff high turnover collars with the narrow openings, and with them the bow tie. It cannot be said that this combination is particularly pleasing to the eye.

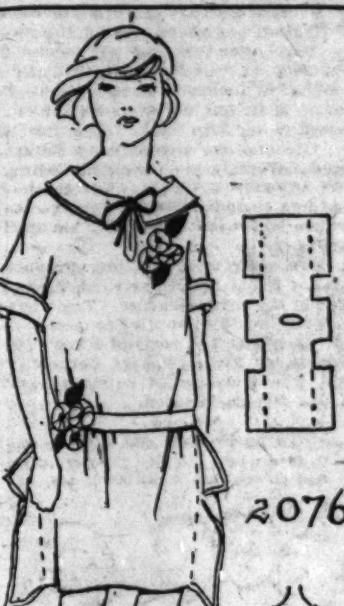

The only stiff collars with which bow ties can successfully be worn are wing collars or the standup collars worn with evening dress. Of course, the bow is the only tie worn with evening dress.

However, for the average day dress it will be found that the bow tie worn with the wing collar gives a much better effect, as in a way it creates a semi-formality of dress that is not unpleasant to behold.

On the other hand, the bow tie may be made to serve as an effective article of everyday negligence dress when worn as it should be, with the soft collar, or the soft shirt with soft collar attached. Under those conditions it is tied neatly enough, but it is given a rakish yank when all is done, so that it looks up at a bit of an angle imparting a devil may care look to the owner and wearer.

F. W. KNIGHT WINS NORTH-SOUTH AMATEUR TITLE

Pinehurst, N. C., April 10.—Fighting up his game after being badly off in the morning round, Fred W. Knight of Philadelphia today annexed the north and south amateur golf championship. He came from behind, after being 4 down at the end of the morning round, and defeated B. P. Merriman, Waterbury, Conn., 1 up.

All the hazards of golfing played their part in today's match. Most of the bad luck in the morning round rested on Knight's shoulders, while Merriman was dropping his putts from almost any angle and distance.

This afternoon Merriman was twice stymied, was in the traps several times, once knocked his opponent's ball into the cup, and missed several comparatively easy putts.

Knight Misses Putt.

Knight's hard luck started early. He missed a 3 foot putt on the eighth, after Merriman had squared the match, and went 1 down.

Knight sliced to the mounds on the 462 yard fourteenth and had to waste a shot, while Merriman was fifteen feet from the pin with his third and sank the putt for a birdie 4 to Knight's par 5. He laid Merriman stymie on the fifteenth and drove into trouble on the sixteenth, both holes being halved. On the next hole Merriman went 4 up when Knight was trapped.

From the twentieth to the twenty-eighth hole there was little excitement, neither player being able to forge gain.

Knight Squares Match.

Merriman laid his third dead to the pin on the twenty-ninth, but Knight missed a short putt and stymied Merriman, who knocked the Philadelphia's ball into the cup for a par 4. Merriman 2 up. Knight sank his putt for a 5 and the hole on the thirtieth, while the thirty-first went to him with a birdie 5, evening the match, while he holed a fifteen foot putt. The thirty-second was halved in par 5, but on the thirty-third Merriman stymied himself and Knight went up in par 5. The last two holes were halved. Cards:

BIGGY DEFEATS MORAN IN FIRES HANDBALL MEET

After dropping the first game James Biggy staged a comeback and captured three straight from John Moran yesterday in the first round of the open handball tournament, 2 games, 21-14, 21-17, 21-11. In the next round Moran and Vincent Gary will play Saturday night. The last game will be run off Sunday.

Chief Corrigan, engine house No. 22, announces that another open tournament will be held as soon as sufficient entries are received. Trophies for the next meet will be donated by Charles B. Barrett. Persons wishing to enter may communicate with Chief Corrigan at Central 6176.

GOLF BALL TO REMAIN SAME

New York, April 10.—No change in the size or weight of golf balls will be legislated during the present season, an official of the United States Golf association announced today.

Steel shafted clubs will be barred from use in tournaments officially sanctioned by the U. S. G. A., he said. Experiments with golf balls will be continued, the official added, with a probable change forecast for next year.

"Y" COLLEGIANS COP MAT MEET

Chicago Y. M. C. A. college bested Armour Institute, 14 to 12, yesterday in a meet at Armour. Wilson of the winners turned in a pair of victories—one a decision in the 148 pound class and the other by a fall in 7 minutes in the 155 pound class.

HAWKS ELECT MAT PILOT.

Iowa City, Ia., April 10.—John O'Brien of Bureau, Ia., has been elected captain of the University of Iowa wrestling team for 1923-24. O'Brien is a sophomore and competes in the 135 pound class.

Capablanca Beats Chicagoan at Chess; German Holds Lead

New York, April 10.—Jose Capablanca of Cuba, world's champion, cut Dr. Emanuel Lasker lead in the international chess tournament to one full game today by defeating Ed Lasker of Chicago in sixty moves, while Dr. Lasker engaged in a cautious draw with Alexander Alekhine of Russia in thirty moves.

Richard Reti of Czechoslovakia, by drawing with Gesa Maroczy of Hungary, continued his tie with Alekhine for third place. Frank Marshall of New York secured his hold on fifth place and the last prize by winning from Edlin Bogoljubov of Ukraine in thirty-seven moves, while Dr. Savitsky from Edlin Bogoljubov of Ukraine, Tarkower of Austria lost to F. D. Yates of England in fifty moves. David Janowski of France had a bye.

Adjourned games between Bogoljubov and Alekhine and Bogoljubov and Yates will be the only contests played tomorrow. The nineteenth round will be played Saturday.

The complete score of Marshall's victory over Bogoljubov follows:

FARM and GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

FILL UP ODD CORNERS WITH OYSTER PLANT.

WHEN you are looking for a vegetable to plant in the odd corners of the garden try oyster plant. Old time gardeners call this vegetable oyster plant or vegetable oyster. The name appears on almost every list of ordinary vegetable crops grown in the garden, but for some reason salinity is not commonly known. After gardeners once start growing it they usually plant oyster plant year after year and consider it a delicious vegetable.

Any gardener who has grown oyster plant will be able to handle salinity successfully. In fact, the two crops are usually handled in the same way. An excellent method is followed by one of Chicago's best suburban gardeners.

Some soil the seeds as soon as the ground is workable, but this gardener usually plants them between June 1 and July 1 in rows eighteen inches apart and in trenches three inches deep, covering the seed with a two inch layer of fine soil.

In three weeks the plants will be up and should be sprinkled frequently until they are about two inches high. Parents are planted in the same way, and if either one of these crops is to be held over the winter it should be left in the ground in this section until about the latter part of October. The roots may be used during the summer to flavor soup and stews. They may be stored in pits, packed in sand in a cellar, or left in the ground over winter if covered with leaves or straw.

AGGIES OUT OF DRAKE RELAYS

East Lansing, Mich., April 10.—Because of alleged discrimination on the part of Drake relay officials, who have placed the athletes from the Michigan Agricultural college in the university classification, Coach Ralph H. Young has decided not to send entries to the meet. Instead, the Aggies team will be entered in the Ohio State university relay games April 17, Coach Young said.

CHICAGO TEAM IN PIN LEAD

Rockford, Ill., April 10.—Bowlers Journal No. 1 team, Chicago, has taken the lead in the Northern Illinois tournament with 2,739. Lyons Barnes, Lyons, Ill., are in second place with 2,640, and Illinois A. C., Chicago, third with 2,619.

ILLINOIS GOLF LINKS FOR DECORATION DAY

BY JOE DAVIS.

An alluring prospect in the shape of a course equal to that of the famous Pine Valley course at Clementon, N. J., was held out to the members of the Illinois Golf club at their meeting last night at the Sheridan Plaza hotel. The club is located west of Glenview on the Dundee road.

This promise came in a letter from A. W. Tillinghast, designer of the course, who was here recently. Pine Valley has a fine reputation, so that if the new Illinois course is anything like it, Chicago will have another championship course.

Ready Decoration Day.

Joe Roseman, who had charge of the construction work, informed the members that the second nine holes would be ready for play by Decoration day, and the first nine between July 1 and 10.

Plans for the clubhouse, designed by Walter W. Ahlcheger, were approved and the detailed drawings will be finished within two weeks. Work on the buildings will be started immediately and the locker room wing will be rushed to completion. The plans for the building, which will be of one and two stories in height, call for an expenditure of $175,000.

$50,000 Irrigating System.

President Arthur Hammond explained the plans for the irrigating system. This will cost $50,000 and provide for watering every foot of the course. This work is well under way and by the time the hot weather arrives the members will have no fear of playing over a course the color of hay.

W. C. Butler of the sports and pastimes committee announced that the Beverly Hotel will be staged Aug. 27. A few members have already played over the course and find it in good condition. Some of the rough spots have been smoothed out and the rough section on hole No. 16 has been built up. A sun dial is to be added to the clubhouse.

The Western Junior championship still is without a location, none of the Chicago club having made a bid for it. It was held last year at Westmont and the preceding year at Olympia Fields.

Donald Dummer, who for several years has acted as club for Chick Evans in all his big matches, has taken a position with Chester Horton at his law school, 120 West Adams street. Donald has lived at Wheaton for a number of years and was prominent in intercollegiate athletics. He competed in the Illinois interscholastic tournament at Urbana last year and was runner-up. Don is one of the few players who can initiate Evans' swing perfectly.

PAIRINGS MADE FOR VOLLEY BALL SLEIPNER ROAD RACE ON MAY 25

Officials of the Sleipner A. C., at a meeting last night, set May 25 as the date for the club's annual ten mile street race. The start and finish of the run will be at Grand and North avenues. Olaf Gulland, chairman, is in charge of the race, and information may be secured from him by calling Columbus 3211.

Y. M. C. A. BASEBALL TOURNEY.
Division Street Y. M. C. A.'s 8th annual grammar school indoor baseball tournament, open to all schools of the northwest side, will be held next month. Entries close May 1 with E. L. Kuempel, 1627 West Division street.

Woods and Waters by BOB SECKER

HEATH HEN IS NEARLY EXTINCT.

WITH two species of American game birds extinct another is about to pass out, according to reports from Massachusetts. The heath hen, the eastern prairie chicken, is so close to extinction that it looks like a hopeless task to ever bring 'em back.

The Labrador duck is gone for good. Although conservationists are divided as to the cause of the disappearance, they certainly can't blame the sportsman, as this bird was never hunted for sport. The passenger pigeon is also gone; a sacrifice on the altar of commercial greed. The way trappers and runners even invaded the nesting grounds of this beautiful bird to kill them by the thousands is a black mark on America's bird history. The pot hunters, the market hunters, wiped this species off the face of the earth. Now comes the heath hen. These prairie chickens have been shot for both food and sport. The "no sale" law came too late for these birds. In spite of a closed season and every precaution to help these birds stage a comeback the future of the heath hen looks pretty dark. There is only a handful left. This last blow was a foretaste of that destroyed hundreds of them.

The conservationists tell us that as far as can be determined there isn't a hen bird remaining of the eastern prairie chicken. So the suggestion has been made that it might be worth while importing a few female prairie chickens from the west and release them with the male heath hens in Massachusetts. They may cross. If they do we will have a 50 per cent heath hen, which is better than none at all.

FRIEDA, MAROON STAR, ENTERS FOR PA. PENTATHLON

Philadelphia, Pa., April 10.—The entry of Harry G. Frieda of Chicago university for the pentathlon, feature of the first day of the Pennsylvania relay carnival April 25 and 26, was received today.

Frieda is considered one of the best all around athletes in America and is expected to give West of Washington and Jefferson, winner of the event last year, and other stars a hard battle.

Other prominent entries in the pentathlon are Newton, University of Florida; Planisky, Georgetown; Hamann, Wisconsin; Johnson, University of Pittsburgh; and Levi of Haskell institute.

SUBMARINES, 3; WHALES, 0.
In an indoor baseball game at Grand Boulevard hall the Submarines downed the South Side Whales, 3 to 0. The pitching of O'Donnell, who fanned 23, and the catching of O'Brien featured.

CORNELL DRAWS POLE IN TRIO OF PENNSY EVENTS

Philadelphia, Pa., April 10.—Luck favored Cornell in the drawing today for positions in the annual relay races under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania on Franklin field April 25 and 26.

The Ithaca track men drew the pole in the two mile, four mile, and sprint medley relay races for the American championship.

Cambridge university was out of luck, for the British team drew thirteenth position in the two mile and sprint relay events, the two races in which it is entered.

Columbia Gets Pole.

Columbia won the pole in the quarter mile relay championship; Pennsylvania won first position in the half mile relay; Penn State the pole in the mile relay championship, and Michigan the pole in the distance medley relay championship.

In the quarter mile Chicago drew fifth position and Ohio State eleventh. Chicago got fourth in the half mile, while Texas got eighth. Ohio State obtained the fourteenth.

Chicago drew third in the one mile with Texas sixth, Missouri fifteenth, and Ohio State sixteenth.

Western Teams Fare Poorly.

In the two mile event Michigan is twelfth, Wisconsin fourteenth, and Ohio State fifteenth. Oregon Argies got second place in the four mile relay with Ohio State in third position and Wisconsin twelfth.

Wisconsin drew second in the sprint medley. Ohio State getting third, Texas fifth, and Michigan fourteenth, while the Wolverines drew the pole in the distance medley, Missouri got fifth position, Ohio State eleventh, and Wisconsin thirteenth.

Your problem, too, will be no more difficult than to pick up the telephone and call Central 0100.

During 1923 The Tribune printed 1,370,000 Want Ads—which means that hundreds of thousands of people in Chicago and the Middle West, without loss of time, turned into money the countless things they no longer needed.

Tribune Want Ads are quickly resultful. (Circulation 590,000 daily and 970,000 Sunday.) Think of the vast number of people who will read your offer there. In no other newspaper in America is so large a Want Ad audience possible. Bring your Want Ad to The Tribune Want Ad Store at Madison and Dearborn, or phone Central 0100.

Busy Business

Men recruit efficient secretaries and stenographers from The Tribune's Want Ad Section—where intelligent, preferred workers always turn when they seek employment. Merely call Central 0100 and tell us the kind of help you need.

Station "W-G-N"

Now broadcasting has caused a considerable bullish flurry in the market for Radio Sets. This is a good time to sell the old set and buy or build a bigger one. You will get a good price for your set, too. Central 0100.

Old Clothes

For new. That's the formula for dainty dressers. (Sell the old ones through a Tribune Want Ad, and buy new ones.) Garments slightly worn and somewhat out of the mode find a ready market in the Want Ads. Try it and be convinced.

When Pets

Are petulant—if the goldfish have distemper or the canary gets colicky—or if they have become a nuisance—pass them along to other folks who want them. You can do it through a Tribune Want Ad.

SHORT COVERING HELPS ALL GRAIN TO MOVE HIGHER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

An overall condition developed in wheat and corn after an early break which carried May wheat down to $1.00, or within 1/2¢ of the inside figure on the crop. Absorption of the offerings by commission houses finally resulted in short covering and an advance of around 1¢ from the bottom, with the close at the top. Net gains were 1/2¢ to 1/4¢ on both wheat and corn, while oats were up 1/4¢, the latter on May. Liquidation was on in rye and it lost 1/4¢.

There was nothing in the news to account for the buying, but with a light trade the markets quickly became overbought and retraced and finally to any good buying or selling. North-west houses were sellers of July carry, but there was no material pressure otherwise. May finished at $1.00 1/2, July at $1.03 1/2, and September at $1.05 1/2.

Expect Liberal Deliveries.

With a relatively low cash demand and a persistent sales of hard winter wheat to go to store, 100,000 bu more being reported during the day, the trade expected liberal deliveries will be made on May contracts. The trade generally forgot about the government report, and paid little attention to crop comments. Northwestern messages indicated a decrease of 10 to 15 per cent in the spring wheat acreage, but said seedling would be finished two to three weeks ahead of last year with the outlook the best in several years. Export sales were estimated at 200,000 bu.

Corn Rally After Break.

Cash houses were moderate sellers of May corn early and it sold down to 75¢, the only 1/2¢ above the low point of the previous week, and later advanced to 76 1/2¢ with the close at that figure to a shade under. July and September were 75 1/2¢ at the last.

Reports of a better cash demand at Omaha had a little effect on values, but the rally was regarded as due mainly to short covering. Cash basis in the local sample market was slightly lower as compared with May. Eastern shipping demand continues slow, with sales of 20,000 bu.

A local professional was a good seller of May on every advance of 1/2¢, but the trade was mixed as to whether this was long grain or putting out a line of shorts.

May Oats Set Right.

May oats developed independent strength, due to a better cash demand at Minneapolis and other markets. Basis at Minneapolis was 1/2¢ to 3/4¢ better as compared with futures, and St. Louis reported the south after grain. Local bids to arrive were advanced 1/2¢ without buying much grain.

Liquidation in Rye.

Scattered liquidation and stop order selling carried rye prices lower, and while there was some buying of July at 20¢ over May by the local cash market, the undertone was heavy. Norway has taken 400,000 bu in the last few days, but it has had little effect on values.

Provisions were easier with a light trade. Lard finished with net losses of 2 1/2¢ to 3¢, and ribs 2 1/2¢ to 3¢, while ribs were unchanged to 3/4¢ lower. Export demand is slow for all products. Deliveries on April contracts were 50,000 lbs lard.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

There was a little durum wheat included in the 100,000 bu reported sold at the seaboard for exports during the day, but the foreign demand on the whole continues slow. The estimated clearance of 6,000,000 bu from Argentina for the week had some effect abroad. Norway is said to have taken 400,000 bu by 22 since Saturday, and there were unconfirmed reports of another cargo taken yesterday.

Chicago handlers sold 10,000 bu wheat, 30,000 bu corn, and 25,000 bu oats to the domestic trade, with 100,000 bu wheat sold to go to store.

Little choice wheat is offered at Minneapolis and the basis there was firm, with as high as 18¢ over May paid for dark No. 1 northern. Local premiums were unchanged at 18¢ over May for No. 2 red, and 18¢ over for No. 3 hard. Receipts were 13 cars. St. Louis was 1¢ lower on red and unchanged on hard winter, while Kansas City and Omaha were unchanged.

Industries were the best buyers of cash corn here, with prices unchanged to 1/2¢ lower. Basis was 1/2¢ to 1/4¢ under May for No. 2 mixed, and 1/2¢ to 1/4¢ under for No. 3 yellow. Washington, D. C., April 11.—The Japanese note, containing a bill pending before the senate and proposed as an amendment to a similar bill before the senate, assumed today the status of a national issue of first importance. In a communication of gravity of expression, the government, through Ambassador Hanihara, reiterated its force against the exclusion of the from nations entitled to quota and warned of "the sequences" which enactment of a measure "would inevitably

"Japan's Honor Attacked." The Japanese note, conveyed to Secretary Hughes by him at once to the senate immigration committee, gave for the first time concrete form the terms of the men's agreement of 1907, formally that Japan had observed that covenant, and the very honor of the Japanese government was being attacked. Who contended to the contrary, "To Japan the question is of expediency, but of principle," Ambassador Hanihara said. "The question is whether Japan is or is not entitled to proper respect and consideration on the part of other nations."

It is difficult to believe the intention of the people of this country to resort to a just pride of a friend, but would also seem to be a question of good faith and the honor of their government. Senate Gets Letter.

In transmitting the letter to the senate, Secretary Hughes stated that it was for his consideration with presentation of the immigration bill, which would not only seriously affect the Japanese, but also the view of the agreement held by the Japanese embassy "corresponding to our own understanding of the agreement."

What effect the brilliant protest may have upon the national action with reference to exclusion sections was not definitely in either branch.

In the house, Chairman Johnson pushed his bill clear of minor committee and put over until tomorrow upon the provisions to which the protest is directed. The senate has been temporarily laid aside as a vote is due there also tomorrow on the Japanese provisions.

Senator Shortridge (Rep., Cal.) of the most active of the group, insisted tonight in a speech, which would have the effect of incorporating the house bill, would be a direct challenge to the senate bill, which he stated it would argue that the offending agreement aimed at Japan and Germany, and that the probability of taking the proper view of the certainty of the agreement would consider it a direct challenge to the Japanese.

The Japanese protest was made in connection with immigration bills. On February 11, 1924, Japan's foreign minister, Baron Goto, in a speech to the Japanese Diet, stated that the Japanese government had decided to support the Japanese bill, which he stated it would argue that the offending agreement aimed at Japan and Germany, and that the probability of taking the proper view of the certainty of the agreement would consider it a direct challenge to the Japanese.

The state department, in charge of the bill, has every requisite for the insertion in the provisions which would exempt immigrants excepted from the provisions of the bill, or a specific agreement to immigration.

The suggestion was defeated by the committee and arose from the protest when presented.

Opponents of the state department, led in the senate by Senator Shortridge, asserted that the agreement has been broken by Japan and pointed to the steady increase of the Japanese population on the Pacific coast as proof. The agreement may have been broken by the Japanese, Senator Shortridge said today, but it has not been successful in the United States.
